Terrific Hitting Power Turns Back Chicago Cubs 5 to 2

Gehrig and Dickey Lead Assault on Warneke as New York Takes Commanding Lead in World Baseball Series; Clubs Resume Play in Chicago Saturday

CHICAGO UNCORKS TWO DOUBLE PLAYS

Yankee Stadium, New York, Sept. 29.—Behind the effective pitching of young "Lefty" Gomez, their brilliant left-hander, the New York Yankees gained a commanding lead of two victories to none by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, to-day in the second game of the world baseball series, before a crowd estimated at more than 50,000. To-morrow the teams will be en route to Chicago to resume their warfare on Saturday at Wrigley Field. With a two-game lead the American League titleholders have become heavy favorites to lift the crown worn last year by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lon Warneke, outstanding young right-hander of the Cubs, held the Yankees to ten hits, but was unable to hold the Yankee sluggers in the pines. He walked four and struck out seven. Gomez was touched for nine hits, struck out six and issued one base on balls.

GEHRIG AND DICKEY STAR

Lou Gehrig, hero of yesterday's game with his home run, and Bill Dickey, provided the batting punch of the New York attack to-day. Gehrig pounded out three hits in four trips to the plate, while Dickey got two out of three. Every member of the Yankees, with the exception of Cronin, young shortstop, and Gomez, secured a hit. The veteran Stephenson and Manager Charles Grimm were the only members of the Cubs able to get more than one hit off Gomez, each pulling out a pair of safeties.

As in the first innings of the opening game yesterday, the Cubs managed to jump into the lead in their initial time at bat. Herman, first batter to face Gomez, drove a liner through third base for two bases. English went out a Combs on a fly, and Cuyler grounded to Cronin.

When the shortstop bobbled the ball, Stephenson lifted a high fly to Combs, Herman scoring after the catch. Demaree flied to Ruth, ending the rally.

Two hits in their half of the inning gave the Yanks a pair of runs. After Combs and Sewell had walked and Ruth had struck out, Gehrig singled to right field, scoring Combs. Another hit by Dickey, New York catcher, sent Sewell across the rubber.

Kid Replies To Report Critics

Professors Vague, Wild and Illusionary, Says Committee Chairman

Defends Recommendation Lieut.-Governor's Control Finances; Over 500 Attend

A review of recommendations made in the Kidd Committee report, brief reference to criticism regarding some of them made by professors of the University of British Columbia and an appeal to citizens to take an unprejudiced, non-partisan interest in the affairs of the province featured the address of George Kidd, chairman of the committee, before an audience of between 500 and 600 at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening.

The meeting was arranged by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and broadcast over station CPCT. R. H. B. Ker, president of the Victoria Chamber, presided.

SHORT SPEECH

Mr. Kidd's comments on the recommendations were short and his speech lasted less than an hour and a half. In the course of his remarks he questioned whether the proposed P.G.E.

CITY TREASURY OPEN OVERTIME

Last-minute Tax Payments Will Be Handled Saturday

For the convenience of property owners who wish to avoid payment of penalty on their tax bills, the city treasury will be open from 2 until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it was announced this morning by City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith.

The office usually closes at 1 o'clock on Saturday, but several employees will return in the afternoon to handle the late accounts.

For those who wish to send in their accounts by mail, the treasurer said all cheques received in envelopes bearing Saturday's post mark would be accepted without penalty additions.

The collection total has taken a big jump since the beginning of this week and was around the $1,000,000 mark to-day, but recording clerks could not give the exact amount as they have not been able to keep pace with payments.

sale or any sale for the line would be consummated. His reply to criticism of Professor G. M. Weir on the committee's recommendations regarding limiting free education was to doubt the need for the education beyond a certain stage in British Columbia, which he said was still more or less on the frontier although they might not live to regard it in that light, and to ask how many students of the university high schools left the province to go south.

The criticism of Professor H. E. Angus before the Vancouver Rotary Club in which he recommended increase of income tax was briefly dismissed as wild, illusory and vague, taken from books and not backed by practical experience.

BIG AND SMALL MEN

The speaker devoted some time to a defence of the recommendations the Lieutenant-Governor should have power of exercising control of government expenditures, and was surprised the criticism should come from Victoria, where the Lieutenant-Governor resides. If the Lieutenant-Governor's duties were to be confined to ceremonial the office might as well be abolished, he said, noting that some eastern provinces were questioning the use of the office. The committee had been criticized for its recommendation regarding wider powers for the Lieutenant-Governor, the speaker said, but if it had made no reference to him it might have been accused of touching the small men and leaving the big men alone.

BENNETT'S GIFT WAS $750,000

Canadian Press Regina, Sept. 29.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett "placed $750,000 of his own money in our campaign fund, and not much more than that was spent."

This statement was made by F. W. Turnbull, K.C., member of the House of Commons for Regina City, at the address delivered at the annual day evening. He was referring to the campaign funds used by the Conservative Party in the federal election of 1930, which returned that party to power with Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett at the helm as Prime Minister.

Mr. Turnbull merely touched on the question of campaign funds, usually a closely-guarded secret while discussing the recent Imperial Conference.

COL. J. S. HARVEY DIED TO-DAY

Well-known Native Son, Who Suffered Long Illness From War Service, Passes

After a prolonged illness due to war service, Colonel James Swan Harvey, of Knapp Island, well-known native son, passed away this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital. He is survived by his widow and one son, Robert D. Harvey, Victoria barrister.

Col. Harvey was born in Nanaimo on May 28, 1872, and had lived on Vancouver Island practically the whole of his life, with the exception of the period of his service overseas during the Great War. He joined the forces in 1914 with a commission as lieutenant in the 50th Highlanders, being sent to the 8th Battalion, and left Victoria in advance of the battalion with a draft of 250 men to France as reinforcements for the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

He was then given the command of Esquimalt Military Hospital which later became "J" unit, and from that time until demobilization was in charge of all hospitals for returned soldiers throughout British Columbia, until 1918 when this was taken over by the Canadian Army Medical Corps. He subsequently volunteered for service in Siberia but was not accepted owing to the condition of his health. He was given command of Military District No. 11, in charge of all demobilization in British Columbia and the Yukon.

For the last eight years Col. Harvey has been an invalid, frequently undergoing treatment for disabilities caused by his service overseas and his death was not unexpected.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

THREE BY-LAWS BEFORE COUNCIL

Three by-laws of considerable importance will go before the City Council meeting which has been called for to-morrow afternoon instead of next Monday night.

Of greatest interest is the new measure giving the City Comptroller wider powers of supervision in finance and staff arrangements of departments. This by-law has been drafted by the legislative committee, and will go before the aldermen for preliminary readings. The second measure is an amendment to the water rates by-law, which effects another change in the service charges, where more than one connection is taken from a single meter. Earlier in the year the council fixed the rate at a month for each connection, but this has been revised downward in the amended by-law.

Reconsideration, adoption and final passing of the sign by-law, which sets up regulations governing erection and operation of building signs is the other item.

Routine business will make up the remainder of the agenda.

Herriot Again Voices Support of League

Associated Press Geneva, Sept. 29.—France refuses to share the pessimism and skepticism which are now being directed at the League of Nations, Premier Edouard Herriot told the League Assembly to-day. France was faithful to the League's ideals and would work resolutely for the success of the Disarmament Conference.

Viscount Cecil, British representative, also came to the League's defence, declaring the existing troubles between

The reason for the ban was not stated. It was said Mr. Gandhi was progressing satisfactorily after his six-day hunger strike.

NO SLIGHT TO JULY HOLIDAY

City Council Committee Drafts Reply to Complaint of Native Sons

The City Council has made grants for July 1 celebrations in the past and has no intention at present of discontinuing such grants.

While the council has decided to eliminate May 24 as the date of civic celebrations, it has not yet chosen a substitute.

This, in effect, is the reply of a special council committee to complaints of the Native Sons of Canada regarding remarks by aldermen recently with respect to civic celebrations in which June 23 was proposed as a date for the year's main holiday. It will go before the council to-morrow afternoon.

PARAGUAYANS CAPTURE FORT

If Bennett Government Went to Country Now It Would Be Swept From Power, Says Liberal Leader

Audiences Totalling 6,000 Hear King at By-election Meetings in South Huron, Ontario

Sherbrooke, Ont., Sept. 29.—"You asked for bread and the government gave you not a stone, but a sheet of blank paper."

In these words Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, addressing an audience of more than 3,000 here yesterday evening, condemned the efforts of the Bennett Government to make the Imperial Conference the sole issue in the South Huron by-election campaign.

"I believe that if the government went to the country now it would be defeated as no government was ever defeated before."

The evening event was the second of two great mass meetings held in South Huron yesterday. In the afternoon, Mr. King spoke in Exeter. At both gatherings he appealed to the electors on behalf of William H. Boldin, Liberal candidate in the by-election which will be decided at the polls next Monday. It was estimated Mr. King addressed more than 6,000 people at the two meetings. The total electorate of the riding is 14,400. The Conservative candidate is Louis H. Radner, a farmer of Dashwood.

MINISTERS WHO QUIT PRAISED

London, Sept. 29.—The free trade Ministers who resigned from the National Government yesterday were congratulated to-day by The London News Chronicle, which took the view that while they remained in the cabinet they were hopelessly handicapping the Liberals in any attempt to further the policies they believed necessary.

TWO ALLEGED PLOTTERS KILLED

Sherbrooke, Pa., Sept. 29.—Two men who police said they believe were on a death-dealing mission, were killed to-day as the result of an explosion in their parked automobile in West Scranton.

Detectives tentatively identified them as Alfred Satri, thirty, and Ricardo Augustinelli, about the same age, both of Jessup, Pa., near here. The explosion caused considerable damage in the neighborhood, and injured four persons.

COLLEGE BOARD IS ACCUSED OF FLAXNESS

Counsel Tells Manitoba University Inquiry Commission He Believes Governors Failed to Meet Some Statutory Requirements

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Non-compliance by the board of governors with the statutes of the University of Manitoba was charged to-day by R. F. McWilliams, K.C., counsel for the board of inquiry investigating the loss of nearly $1,000,000 of university endowments. The commission started its investigation this forenoon.

After reading terms of the reference, Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General of Manitoba, said the government had tried to make the document all-embracing, but if the board felt it was restricted the terms of reference would be amplified to the limit of its jurisdiction in order that any obstacle to a full and complete investigation might be removed.

Lord Crewe, Lord Reading and Viscount Grey State Views on British Cabinet

London, Sept. 28.—Lord Crewe, Lord Reading and Viscount Grey of Faloud, noted Liberal leaders, believe yesterday's resignations of the Free Trade Liberals from the National Ministry were "inevitable and the only course open to them."

In a joint letter made public yesterday evening the three peers said the question now was not one of tariffs for revenue, nor of tariffs for an emergency, such as were contemplated at the last election. "The government is now committed to an enduring policy of tariffs which cannot, by their nature, be used to bargain for lower tariffs and which must be further obstacles to that freer world trade to which we were all assured the

Pattullo Thanks Local Liberals

F. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader in British Columbia, telegraphed his thanks for the resolution of confidence passed at the meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association yesterday evening to Charles Bishop, secretary of the association, this morning. Mr. Bishop sent a telegram containing the resolution to Mr. Pattullo following the meeting and the reply received was as follows: "Dear Mr. Bishop:—Thanks for telegram. Please convey appreciation to association."

LIBERALS SOLID BEHIND LEADER

Victoria Association Meeting Unanimously Endorses Pattullo Leadership in Crisis

Forty-eight Delegates Chosen to Go to Provincial Convention in Vancouver

Victoria Liberals are solidly behind F. D. Pattullo in his leadership of the Liberal party through the present crisis in British Columbia politics.

A resolution to this effect was passed unanimously, and amid applause at a crowded meeting at the Victoria Liberal headquarters yesterday evening.

The result of this testing of Liberal opinion here was immediately telegraphed to Mr. Pattullo in Vancouver, where he is completing arrangements for the opening of the British Columbia provincial convention next Monday.

The meeting was called to elect forty-eight delegates to attend the convention from Victoria. At the meeting opened, E. G. Rowbottom arose and proposed the resolution, which was seconded by D'Arcy Martin. It was carried enthusiastically with a standing vote and without discussion.

No Loss of Life Reported Although Oregon Maru Sighted Men Clinging to Barren Reefs

Rescue Prevented By Howling Gale

Ss. President Madison, Bound From Orient to Victoria, Alongside Wreck and May Bring Crew Here

Ashore and almost submerged on the barren reefs of the Amagasaki Island, Aleutian group, the steamship Nevada to-day lies a total wreck, victim of north Pacific gales. The entire crew of the Nevada is safe on shore, awaiting rescue, according to an announcement by the owners, the States Steamship Company of Portland, Ore.

George Eggers, operating manager of the company, a Portland dispatch said, had been in contact with the Oregon Maru, which since Tuesday night has been standing by the wreck. "We expect the men to be taken off the island as soon as the weather moderates," he said.

"We have not yet had an opportunity to learn the cause of the trouble, nor how it happened."

A radio message picked up from the Oregon Maru by the Estevan station of the Dominion radiotelegraph service, and relayed to the Gonzales station in Victoria this morning, was not so sanguine.

This message from the Oregon Maru, timed 5:35 a.m., said: "Located Nevada had ground on East Point, Amagasaki Island, and endeavored to take off some of the crew clinging to the rocks, but owing to heavy seas was unsuccessful." The message went on to state that a lifeboat, presumably from the Oregon Maru, had been lost in the attempt made to rescue the shipwrecked men.

AIMS OF NAZIS STATED BY LEADERS

Berlin, Sept. 29.—Hermann Goerring, National Socialist, said to-day the three main issues to be sponsored by the Nazis for the coming Reichstag election would be the restoration of "the war cult," the restoring of Germany's honor, equality of Germany before the nations, and national security.

Goerring said he was speaking in behalf of his chief, Adolf Hitler, leader of the Nazis. "Our aim," he said, "is to deter Marxism and Communism."

He refused to believe the Reichstag election November 6 would make any material difference in the present party alignments.

Becomes Lord Privy Seal in British Cabinet; Junior Ministerial Offices Filled

Canadian Press London, Sept. 29.—Mr. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party and Lord President of the Council in the National Cabinet, to-day was appointed Lord Privy Seal, filling the cabinet position vacated by the resignation yesterday of Viscount Snowden.

He will combine both offices, holding that of Lord President of the Council without salary.

Premier MacDonald also announced appointments to junior ministerial offices vacated yesterday when Lord Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair resigned, taking the juniors out with them.

Major Leslie More-Bellish, Liberal, was made Financial Secretary of the Treasury. Dr. E. L. Duggin was appointed Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade. The Earl of Plymouth became Under-Secretary for Colonies. Col. G. M. Headlam, Under-Secretary for the Ministry of Transport, and E. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for India. The post of secretary to the Ministry of Pensions has not been filled.

WRONG POLICY
 In the letter in which they resigned yesterday, Sir Herbert Samuel, Sir Archibald Sinclair and the junior ministers said:

"In our view the whole policy of hard bargaining on trade matters between the Empire and the rest of the world is wrong. We regard continued unity and harmony of the British commonwealth of nations as of supreme importance. It is the basis of our greatness and the value to the world at large. That purpose cannot be assisted by conference such as that at Ottawa; our view is that it can only be imperilled."

WARM DAYS ARE EXPECTED

Vancouver, Sept. 29.—Summer, which came late to Vancouver this year, seems to be making amends by refusing to give way to fall. INSULT TO INTELLIGENCE
 The Liberal chief minister charged the government had deliberately brought on the by-election before the Imperial Conference agreements were tabled in the House of Commons, when it could as well have left it until afterward, when all the facts would be known.

LOWER INTEREST
 The Liberal Party stood for reduction of interest rates, establishment of a central rediscout bank in Canada, 50 per cent minimum preference on British goods entering through Canadian ports, abolition of the three per cent excise tax, a national commission on unemployment, revision of the Elections Act to provide alternate votes in single member constituencies and proportional representation.

NOT KNOWN YET
 "After two years of hard times," declared Mr. King, "the Bennett government offers you nothing but agreements of which you know nothing."

TRAIN SCHEDULES
 "Let me mention one thing which has already received a good deal of attention in the press, but for which no satisfactory explanation has yet been forthcoming from any source. I mean the change in the running schedule of transcontinental passenger trains east and west of which obliged a stopover of twelve hours in the city of Winnipeg by passengers traveling by the Canadian National Railways. There was no such stopover in the case of passengers traveling by the Canadian Pacific Railway. There may have been the best of reasons for this, but if there are, the public does not know of them."

NOT ALONE
 "The fact that for some time past the Canadian National Railways have been running behind is not a reason why they should be singled out for special condemnation. That has been the unfortunate fate of their great rival, the Canadian Pacific in Canada, and of every railway on this continent."

FRIDE IN SYSTEM
 "I just wish to make clear that the Liberal Party takes pride in the Canadian National system, takes pride in what was accomplished by Sir Henry Thornton and his board of directors during the time they were in office and were given by the government of the day a hand free from all political control, and that the Liberal Party, to the utmost of its ability, intends to

WORLD CONFERENCE
 "The World Economic Conference is about to meet. It is essential that we should be free to enter into any agreements practicable and advantageous for the expansion of our trade with foreign countries which are by far the largest part of our commerce."

HIGHER COSTS
 "The measures now proposed must in the long run raise the cost of living and the cost of production above what it would otherwise be. They make for the lessening of exports, greater unemployment and an increase of the social distress and unrest."

WORLD CONFERENCE
 "The Ottawa agreements would tie our hands. If, for example, it were found practicable and advisable to join any group of countries which agreed among themselves to gradually reduce tariffs on their mutual trade, it would be unlikely to free from restrictions the terms of the Ottawa agreements, once they were ratified, would preclude us from doing so."

TRAIN SCHEDULES
 "Let me mention one thing which has already received a good deal of attention in the press, but for which no satisfactory explanation has yet been forthcoming from any source. I mean the change in the running schedule of transcontinental passenger trains east and west of which obliged a stopover of twelve hours in the city of Winnipeg by passengers traveling by the Canadian National Railways. There was no such stopover in the case of passengers traveling by the Canadian Pacific Railway. There may have been the best of reasons for this, but if there are, the public does not know of them."

On increased willingness to trade, we also believe it is only by greater freedom of trade that the cost of living can be kept within bounds for the masses of the people. Moreover, we believe that the government has thought satisfactorily to solve the most pressing of our national problems to-day, the problems of unemployment and of the enormous increase in the cost of the life-blood of our languishing transportation systems. It is equally the lifeline which alone can save those who are suffering to-day through lack of work."

WITHDRAWAL OF STOCK REPORTED

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(Associated Press.)—Marshall E. Sappell, ousted president of the Illinois Public Service Co., has revealed to State Attorney John A. Swanson a second withdrawal of stock from the portfolio of the Middle West Utility Co., Insull holding company now in receivership.

The second withdrawal, like the first, was made, he said, to enable him to meet the demands of bankers for additional collateral. The withdrawal consisted of 9,000 shares of stock of another subsidiary, the Central and Southwest Public Service Company, which had a market value then of approximately $400,000.

It was the discovery of the first withdrawal, which consisted of shares of preferred stock of his own company with a value of $400,000, that caused

Middle West receivers to obtain his resignation as president of the subsidiary Central Illinois Light and Power Co.

MILL MEN ARE AGAIN AT WORK

Canadian Press. New Westminster, Sept. 29.—Following the strike of some employees of the Timberland Lumber Company Ltd., South Westminster, which resulted in closing the mill, company officials today reported operations were being carried on as usual. They stated the men had been given forty-eight hours in which to report for work and that practically 100 per cent of them had returned.

Announcement also was made that the night shift would start work tonight. The day shift started Tuesday morning. There are about 150 men in the two shifts and a similar number up coast who supply logs for the mill.

QUAKE ZONE PEOPLE AIDED

British Warships' Arrival at Greek Coast Welcomed

Associated Press. Athens, Sept. 29.—Arrival of part of the British eastern Mediterranean fleet, bringing food and medical supplies for relief of sufferers from earthquakes that have shaken Greece since the beginning of the week was hailed here today with great public demonstrations.

In the meantime, earthquakes continued. It was feared the casualties would be greater than originally supposed. The number of dead was placed today at 200 and the injured at 400. The shocks were so strong men and stones were thrown considerable distances. Cracks more than seven feet wide appeared in the ground, and water fountains which disappeared in some places reappeared in others.

Terrified refugees thronged into Salonika in droves, telling harrowing tales of their sufferings. At Salonika the people were relieved by the arrival of five British cruisers.

FUNDS INQUIRY IS LAUNCHED

At Winnipeg Commission Starts University of Manitoba Investigation

Canadian Press. Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Empowered by the Manitoba Government to investigate the loss of nearly $1,000,000 in the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba, a board of inquiry today began to unravel a mass of evidence in search of the person responsible and the method by which the huge sums were removed from the university accounts.

In a reference prepared by the government, the board, composed of Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, Regina, Dr. Walter C. Murray, Saskatoon, and G. K. Nourse, Winnipeg, is charged to decide the "person or persons directly or indirectly responsible for the impairment or depletion" of the trust funds.

Also, they are to attempt to find how it was possible to conceal the shortage "in view of the powers vested in the administrative body and the audit which are provided for."

BOOKS PRODUCED

The board, appointed by the government following the sentencing of John A. Macbray, K.C., former barrister and chairman of the board of governors of the university, to seven years in the penitentiary for the theft of $500,000 from the fund, opened its sessions this forenoon. First, it heard the reading of the reference outlining its tasks and then requested W. C. Spence, secretary of the university board of governors, to produce all books, records and documents pertaining to the university funds.

The actual funds were handled through Macbray's investment firm of Macbray and Sharpe. It was while in its keeping the big losses occurred, and the aged barrister was later charged with stealing $501,175. The charge, however, was reduced to a half million dollars.

The board is asked by the government to report on the method employed in the administration of the trust funds since their establishment; the extent to which each endowment or trust fund has been impaired or depleted; the date when the process of impairment began and the use made of the assets which were abstracted to cause the losses.

WIDE FIELD. The reference also asks reports be made on all other matters which may be considered relevant to the "funds of the university, its governors, its officials, its agents and any other person, firm or corporation which may be found to have been in receipt of any of the funds, endowments or securities of the university."

Recommendations will be made by the board in its findings regarding "any changes that may be deemed necessary in the management and control of the university and of the property, trust funds, endowments, securities, revenue and business affairs thereof."

Mr. Justice Turgeon, a member of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, is chairman of the board, with R. F. Williams, K.C., and J. T. Thomson, K.C., as counsel for the government.

The greater part of today's session was occupied with the reading of the reference and the filing as exhibits of university financial documents.

SALE REPORTS DENIED

Calgary, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Rumors of sale of the Consolidated Fruit Company, prominent western Canadian firm, were "absolutely false and wholly unfounded," it was stated today by H. C. Stockton, general manager. Mr. Stockton said the company had no intention of selling out as reported in newspaper dispatches.

LOAN ARGUMENT

Washington, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—The United States Government yesterday announced wheat farmers would have to pay back this fall only 25 per cent of their production loans, and the plan immediately drew a charge of "glaring, sectional and partisan discrimination" from Senator Smith, South Carolina Democrat. Smith asserted he would "insist that the cotton and tobacco growers shall be given the same treatment that is now given the wheat grower."

KILLED BY FALL

Monte Carlo, Monaco, Sept. 29.—(Associated Press.)—Edmond Leef, a Canadian engineer, was found dead yesterday shortly after breakfast in a room in the Monaco Hotel, which he had entered for treatment last Sunday. Mr. Leef was forty years old and a native of Bowden, Alberta. He had been a resident of the capital of Monaco municipality, on the shore of the Mediterranean, for some time.

LOSS REGRETTED

Hamilton, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Regret over the death of Rev. George W. Coates, young missionary from Saskatoon, killed by an auto in Japan recently, was expressed by Rev. Dr. E. H. Oliver, retiring Moderator of the United Church of Canada, in his closing address to the General Council here yesterday evening. Dr. Oliver referred to Mr. Coates as "the best graduate we ever had" at St. Andrew's College, Saskatoon.

MOSSBERRY COCKTAILS

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—The mossberry cocktail is Manitoba's latest contribution to the world's breakfast table, and it may soon rival orange juice and tomato juice as an appetizer, according to J. M. Davidson, managing secretary of the industrial development board of Manitoba. Mossberries, commonly called low-bush cranberries, are similar to cranberries in appearance, but when fully ripened, are richer in flavor, it is claimed. They grow in profusion in northern Manitoba, and for years northern settlers have been accustomed to picking a barrel or two for winter use.

LIBERALS RULE OUT COALITION

West Vancouver Association Against Abolition of Party System

Believe Group Government Would Be Weak and Ineffective

Canadian Press. Vancouver, Sept. 29.—Coalition met with scant favor among the members of the West Vancouver Liberal Association at a meeting in Dundarave Hall yesterday evening. It was the largest meeting in the history of the association and, while no definite resolution was passed, delegates to the B. C. Liberal Convention in Vancouver next Monday were instructed to have regard to the sentiments expressed in discussion at the meeting. The discussion indicated opposition to coalition or union government, most speakers holding that parliamentary government functioned most effectively under the parliamentary system. Abolition of party meant group government, which the experience of other countries, notably Germany, had shown to be weak and ineffective. A. S. Munn, M.P.P. for Vancouver

JUDGE READY FOR INQUIRY

Full Responsibility For His Statements Acknowledged By Judge Stubbs, Winnipeg

Canadian Press. Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Judge T. St. G. Stubbs of the Winnipeg County Court accepted full responsibility for all his statements on the bench. He said this in commenting on the action of the Dominion Government in appointing Supreme Court Justice Frank Ford of the Alberta Supreme Court to investigate some of his alleged statements. "I have no apologies, or retractions, nor recantations of any sort to make to anybody," said the judge. The whole business, he said, was "a compound of personal malice and official stupidity." He added he did not know what remarks of his had been reported to Ottawa, but that some of the press reports concerning the incident had been "grotesquely false and libelous."

Showing How Pacific Milk Whips

A whipped cream demonstration, showing how Pacific Milk whips, was given at the Fair. Yesterday we were asked for the recipe. Please follow details closely:

1. Have Pacific milk cool.
2. Whip briskly two minutes.
3. Add fresh lemon juice freely and whip until cream is thick (about 3 or 4 minutes).
4. Fold in slowly 1 teaspoon, each separately, of granulated sugar and vanilla.

Be sure (1) to whip 2 minutes before adding lemon juice; (2) to use granulated sugar; (3) to fold in sugar and flavoring with a spoon, not whisker.

MR. MACKENZIE KING DEALS WITH CANADA'S PROBLEMS

One of the features of Mr. Mackenzie King's speech at Exeter yesterday was a declaration that the development of Canadian industry and commerce had been "thwarted and to a large measure paralyzed" by the "excessively high tariffs enacted by the present administration." In making this statement, the leader of the opposition gave emphasis to the views of The Financial Post of Toronto, which said recently that "those Canadian merchants and industrialists who have been hard hit by the high tariff policy of the last two years hope that the Bennett government will not wait for the meeting of Parliament to clear away the highly artificial conditions created when duties were made prohibitive instead of protective."

Similarly, The Ottawa Citizen the other day expressed the view that the Bennett government's "policy of trade restriction and its counterpart—the attempted maintenance of the gold standard—together with the world depression, will, by the end of 1932, have cost the country in loss of purchasing power through reduction in the income of wage earners, farmers, merchants, business men, professional men, etc., not less than $3,250,000,000." The Citizen also pointed out that "to this should be added the reduced earnings of corporations, so that the total loss—or cost—to Canada can not be far short of $5,000,000,000." This amount, incidentally, is about twice the size of the national debt.

Another matter which is of vital interest to every Canadian, the present condition and future of the Canadian National Railway, brought from Mr. King the following declaration in his speech last night at Seaford:

I just wish to make clear that the Liberal party takes pride in the Canadian National system, takes pride in what was accomplished by Sir Henry Thornton and his board of directors during the time that they were in office, and were given by the government of the day a hand free from all political control, and that the Liberal party, to the utmost of its ability, intends to see that the C.N.R., which in many respects is Canada's greatest asset, is maintained in all its integrity as an independent, publicly-owned system, with rights and opportunities in all particulars equal to those of its great privately-owned competitor. This was the policy of the Liberal party as it was announced in 1921 and as it has ever since remained.

This announcement by the Liberal leader will have the approval of the Canadian people.

Currency and credit formed another important part of Mr. King's Seaford speech. He reminded his audience that Canada was one of the few of the financial nations of the world which had not a central or a national bank of discount. He contended that if such an institution were operated here as it is in other lands, more credit would be available at cheaper rates of interest. "It would provide this fairly," he said, "by taking high grade securities and issuing currency against them, currency to be provided by the government which would have an immediate association with the control of the bank." The opposition leader remarked, too, that as this is the year when the Bank Act comes up for revision, it would appear to be the year in which this much-needed reform should be instituted. He says "it is a reform for which the Liberal party in office will press."

Finally, in discussing the unemployment question, Mr. King noted that members of the Ottawa government had carefully avoided saying anything about it. Mr. King's references to this most vital of all Canadian problems implied that Mr. Bennett had no policy; nor did the opposition leader think the public ever would know what waste and extravagance had gone on in connection with unemployment relief. Mr. King's comments follow in part:

The administration of all federal monies, appropriated for unemployment relief by a national committee appointed especially for the purpose; a conference of the Dominion and the provinces to revise their financial arrangements and to adjust social services in a manner which will insure wider supervision and control by the federal government; the establishment of a national system of unemployment insurance, are all matters which have been ignored far too long, and should be dealt with immediately by the administration of the day. They will continue to be outstanding objectives of Liberal policy.

At the session of 1931 and again at this year's session, the leader of the opposition urged Mr. Bennett to appoint a non-partisan commission which could have full rein to get all the facts about unemployment and then advise the government. This was a practical suggestion, and it is safe to say that if it had not been utterly ignored, the lot of many thousands of Canadians to-day would have been a great deal better than it is.

JUDGE STUBBS HAS NO APOLOGIES TO MAKE

Department of Justice at Ottawa has ordered an inquiry into certain observations made by Judge Stubbs of the County Court of Winnipeg in a trial of several youths who were charged with breaking and entering, which in plain, common-sense language means attempt to commit burglary. The inquiry was investigated by the Attorney-General of Alberta, who claimed that the remarks of the judge were detrimental to the administration of justice in Manitoba.

The Winnipeg judge was reported to have said in sentencing the youths charged with breaking and entering that "when school boards shut off full classes they are making criminals and there is a criminal responsibility on them. We can expect a lot more of this sort of thing unless young men are put to work or allowed to enter educational institutions. Our youth will become demoralized and degenerate."

Judge Stubbs manifests no signs of repentance. On the contrary he sticks by the observations he made and accepts full responsibility for them. In our own opinion, as far as the remarks we have quoted above are involved in the inquiry, he is in an impregnable position. We can conceive of no greater disaster to this country than the turning loose from schools and colleges of thousands of young people, many of whom would likely become social derelicts, because of drastic limitations imposed by the authorities.

What kind of a civilization would it be which could contemplate with complacency the spectacle of an army of boys and girls thrown onto the streets without prospect of employment, with the inevitable certainty of a fearful measure of demoralization resultant from enforced idleness, the overthrow of their youthful ideals, aspirations and ambitions? No prophet or son of a prophet would be needed to predict the future of a country which was so steeped in materialism that it permitted such a policy. The very fact that in some quarters it does not seem to be more important to protect and nurture the youth of this country than it is to protect and nurture material interests is in itself an ominous sign.

It ought to be apparent to even a child by this time that if the country's youth were allowed to drift, it would drift into lawlessness, violence and anarchy, and the cost would be many, many times greater than it would have been if those young people had been kept in the schools and colleges. In such a case those who are howling for a limitation of school and college attendance might find themselves infinitely worse off than they ever were before or ever dreamed they could be.

Judge Stubbs of Winnipeg has merely said what everybody who is at all familiar with conditions in this country, particularly those which affect our young people, know, and he is to be commended for having the courage to call attention to a vitally dangerous prospect. The cheapest thing Canada could do to-day in connection with this particular aspect of our social and economic situation would be to provide even fuller facilities for the maintenance of her young people in her educational institutions than they ever had before.

NOT YET AWARE OF DEMISE OF MICHAEL MANSON

The provincial government says it is not concerning itself at this time with preparation for a by-election in Mackenzie because it has had no official intimation of the demise of Mr. Michael Manson, who was the member for the constituency. As far as the government is officially aware, Mr. Manson is still alive, notwithstanding the regrettable fact, reported at length in the newspapers of the province, that he passed away on July 11, and that immediately afterwards Premier Tomin paid a deserved tribute to the sterling qualities of that widely-known pioneer.

According to law, when a member of the Legislature dies the government is not cognizant of the circumstance until the Speaker has received formal notification from two other members, and has duly notified the Provincial Secretary. Thereafter the government has six months in which to provide for a by-election to fill the vacancy, which may take another sixty days. Hence, if the government did not provide for the issue of an election writ until the final day of the six months' period, and the election requirements called for two months more, there would not be an election for almost eight months.

Whether the government would proceed with the election earlier if it were officially aware of the vacancy, or not, is an open question, but the chances are that it would not. No two members seem to be in a hurry to inform the government of the passing of Mr. Manson, and as nobody else is qualified to do so, there is no prospect of a by-election in Mackenzie until early next summer. By that time, however, the government must appeal to the country whether it wants to or not, so Mackenzie will be without a representative for the greater part of a year.

The Canadian National Review

The story of the logwood trade is bound up with buccaneers and strange adventure. Following the discovery of the dyeing properties of the logwood or campeche tree in Yucatan by the Portuguese in the sixteenth century, a widespread demand arose in Europe. The only sources of supply were controlled by Spain, and so various expedients were resorted to, especially by the English, to obtain supplies of the precious wood. No Spanish ship returning from the New World with a cargo of logwood was safe. It was pounced upon by the first foreign ship that sighted it and felt formidable enough to handle the job.

After the West Indies were captured by Admiral Penn, who was sent out by Cromwell, Port Royal became a convenient headquarters for any piratical expedition which chose to hover near the ports of Campeche and Coatzacoalcas watching for logwood-laden Spanish ships. This wholesale piracy was not checked until 1667, when Charles II made his treaty with Spain. Although it was now illegal to appropriate logwood at sea it might still be fished from the huge stocks growing on land. With sword in one hand and axe in the other numbers of adventurers established themselves in the tropical forests. The logwood was stacked along the coast and was traded to visiting ships in return for supplies of food, clothing, etc. These friendly transactions were, however, frequently interrupted by the Spanish soldiers. Pitched battles would ensue, and oftentimes an adventurer's career ended in the silver mines of Potosi.

Loose Ends

Some worthless observations of a great city at midnight—two good movies come to town—Mr. Speaker Davis is in a bad way in the fair land of Cowichan—and our neighbors keep on paying.

By H. B. W.

THE OTHER NIGHT I happened to be walking down Granville Street to the Victoria boat just before 12 o'clock and was able to observe the nocturnal habits of the great city. A person from abroad, seeing two places as close together as Victoria and Vancouver, would probably imagine that, despite their difference in size, their habits would be much the same for, after all, we are still one race, and our language is similar except for our broader Victorian "A." But the outsider would be quite wrong. Habits are not similar and our whole outlook is different. By midnight the streets of Victoria are deserted. Usually you can fire a machine gun down Government Street at 10 p.m. without risk of serious physical damage. I have often done so. But at midnight Vancouver seems to be just as much awake as ever. The streets are crowded, people are laughing and talking on the corners as if they never had to get up the next morning; which is all the more curious since they invariably get to work a good hour before we do here.

IT CANNOT BE the difference in climate which has made this extraordinary distinction between these neighbors. It is something deeper. The fact, I think, is that we actually are breeding a different race on this Island, a superior race, no doubt, but different from the new kind of creature which is living in the larger cities of the world. Eventually I have no doubt that there will be much more similarity between the people of Vancouver and New York, for example, than between the people of Vancouver and Victoria. Urban civilization, the civilization of crowds and speed, unquestionably is breeding a new species common to all the great cities of the world. It is a strange, hectic kind of species which moves faster than we do, sleeps less, talks more, thinks it knows everything and yet knows next to nothing. I don't say Vancouver has fully developed this character yet. I say that the development has begun and we on our Island have been left far behind. Eventually we shall appear to city visitors like innocent yokels. If you want to prove it, borrow a machine gun and use it on Government Street to-night.

IT IS REVEALED now that the government of British Columbia, having sent wreaths and representatives to his funeral, and issued touching tributes to his memory, does not know officially yet that dear old Mike Manson is dead, that his constituency of Mackenzie is without a member in the Legislature. I rather think it must suspect the truth in a dim way, but still, it can't do anything on mere suspicion. There will be no by-election in Mackenzie, and Mackenzie will have no representative at the next session. The electors may be appalled to learn of the government's ignorance, but that is not its fault. It can never hear of a vacancy unless it is told by the Speaker and the Speaker cannot possibly hear such things for himself. Under the law of this country, the Speaker is so isolated from events, so insulated to all outside intelligence, that he cannot hear anything unless he is informed of it in writing by two honorable members of the House.

MOST PEOPLE WILL be concerned at this point over the government's ignorance of Mr. Manson's passing. What concerns me is the plight of the unhappy Speaker, Hon. C. F. Davis, K.C., of Cowichan. A man who has to depend on honorable members for his guidance must be in a bad way indeed. What extraordinary ideas of politics a Speaker must have as he wanders in the lush fields of Cowichan, waiting for the letter that never comes; what sweet and innocent expectations; and again, what dark suspicions and horrible doubts. It is enough to provoke a man to desperate deeds. It is enough to make him forget himself, to rush headlong into a Duncan news stand, to buy a newspaper and read it secretly behind the barn with a lantern. Probably Mr. Speaker has never heard of the P.G.E. sale, or of the formation of a union government next year, or the balancing of the budget, or that the war is over. Members of the House are such careless correspondents. But there is one fact which I feel sure that hon. members, zealous of their parliamentary duties, never fail to convey to Mr. Speaker. I feel sure they never fail to notify him during the session that their indemnities are overdue.

THE UNITED STATES Treasury has already paid $6,000,000,000 to war veterans and they have received nearly another $1,000,000,000 from other public and private sources. Their total receipts to date amount to considerably more than twice the sum annually spent by the United States for all education, public and private. By 1950 it is estimated that under existing statutes alone, the federal treasury will be paying some $2,500,000,000 annually to veterans and their dependents, or something over half the entire present budget. This, of course, does not include any extras which are granted in the meantime and which seem certain. I have no burning thought to offer on these figures, which I just picked out of a magazine, but I felt they might interest you in the absence of something better. Anyway, they show that if you are victorious in modern warfare, it's not the original investment. It's the upkeep.

BAPTIST MISSION CIRCLE IS BUSY

The Emmanuel Baptist Mission Circle met yesterday afternoon with a large attendance of members and the president, Mrs. Wm. Russell, in the chair. Mrs. M. R. Richardson led the devotion in an inspiring talk on "International Spirit and Race Prejudice." It was decided to ask the pastor, Rev. M. S. Richardson, to give a talk on "Chinatown in San Francisco," on Wednesday evening, October 19. An interesting feature of the afternoon was the presentation to Mrs. C. M. S. Cross of a life membership pin. Miss Sproule making the presentation. Arrangements were made for a Thanksgiving luncheon to be held in the church hall on Tuesday, October 25, at 1 o'clock. Mrs. D. M. Thompson, recently of Winnipeg, will be the speaker. Mrs. O. H. Cogswell gave an interesting survey of Baptist home mission work in British Columbia.

FEAR "JOKER" MENACES PLANS

Ottawa Admits Being Disturbed Over Moves Not Anticipated at Conference

Empire Preferences Jeopardized By British Intention to Give Foreigners Free Entry

Toronto, Sept. 29.—A special dispatch from Ottawa to The Toronto Telegram, newspaper organ of Premier Bennett here, says persistent rumors from overseas of the intention of the British Government to negotiate trade treaties with foreign countries, notably France, together with accompanying rumors that some of the terms accorded the foreign powers would place them on a par with the Dominions in respect to certain preferences, have caused statements here to wonder seriously if, by any chance, any "joker" could have crept into the agreement—signed between Canada and the United Kingdom at the recent Imperial Economic Conference.

The reports which have disturbed Ottawa statesmen are to the effect that the British Government takes the view that, except with regard to wheat, copper, fish, asbestos and a few other miscellaneous items in respect to which it definitely tied its hands, it is free to extend to foreign countries the general free entry into the British market which the Dominions now enjoy under the Import Duties Act.

FREE ENTRY OR PREFERENCE?

This Import Duties Act is the legislation which created Britain's newly erected tariff wall. It specifically exempts the overseas Dominions from any duties which it imposes. And it expires on November 15. The question which now arises is whether the British-Canadian agreement which was signed at the Imperial Economic Conference assures Canada of a continuance of this legislation and a consequent preference over the foreigner—as was certainly understood to be part of the quid pro quo in the conference arrangement—or whether it simply assures Canada of a continuance of the free entry without prejudice to the right of the British Government to extend that free entry to any foreign country which she may see fit.

Section one of the clause in the British-Canadian agreement at the conference which governs the point is read: "His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom undertake that orders shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section four of the Import Duties Act, 1932, which will ensure the continuance after November 15, 1932, of entry free of duty into the United Kingdom of goods consigned from any part of the British Empire and grown, produced, or manufactured in Canada, which, by virtue of that act, are now free of duty, subject, however, to the reservations set forth in schedule A appended thereto."

Schedule A simply provides that a quota may be substituted for specific rates, subject to eggs and some other dairy products.

BARGAINING BASIS

According to the reports which have reached Ottawa, the British delegates who have now returned to England are defending their work at the conference by claiming that all that they did—apart from certain specific preferences—was to lay down a bargaining basis which they could use in subsequent negotiations. The foregoing section just quoted simply binds the United Kingdom, they are said to be contending—quietly as yet and not openly—to continue free entry to the overseas Dominions, not to restrict it to them alone.

To understand the situation and its importance for Canada, it is necessary to recapitulate the closing phases of the Economic Conference. The British delegates bound themselves to definite preferences to Canada on wheat, copper, asbestos, butter, cheese, apples, pears and condensed milk. What is more, they bound themselves not to reduce, except by Canada's consent, the 10 per cent tax which the Import Duties Act places upon fish, canned salmon, asbestos, zinc and lead. They also made an undertaking similar to this latter one with the other Dominions in respect to other articles in which, as they are largely of tropical character, Canada is not concerned.

VALUE WOULD DISAPPEAR

For the rest, the British delegates contended that the United Kingdom already had extended substantial preferences to the Dominions in the exemption which it had accorded them from the Import Duties Act, which exemption it was prepared to continue.

The Canadian delegation was impressed by the fairness of this last argument, and agreed to its soundness. It agreed, however, in the belief that the exemption was to be continued to the overseas Dominions alone. Manifestly, from the Canadian viewpoint, a preference which the rest of the world could share was no preference at all. Its value would disappear at the moment it became general.

The situation has not arisen in actual fact as yet, but only through the persistent rumors as to British intentions. Consequently, no member of the government will comment upon it. Should the British develop in accordance with the information which is being received, however, it will be the contention of the Canadian ministers that what was to be continued by Section 1 of the conference agreement was not the free entry of the Dominions, but the preference secured to them by the Import Duties Act.

TIRELESS TO CANADA

The rights of the United Kingdom to bargain with whom she will is admitted, but it is contended that the Dominions must continue to receive their present margin of preference over any arrangement which may be made unless the spirit, if not the bond, of the conference agreement is to be violated.

The particular interest of Canada in the matter can be readily appreciated by envisaging what would happen if the free entry feature were extended to the United States—which is not beyond the range of possibility. Immediately the inducement for United States concerns to fill British orders from Canadian branch factories would disappear. This business has been growing up in Canada upon a large scale ever since the recent British duties were promulgated, and assurance of its continuance was definitely regarded by Canada as an important part of the conference quid pro quo—Canada's concession in return being the opening of her markets to British manufacturers upon terms of even competition with domestic industry.

Langford

The Langford Women's Institute met on Tuesday afternoon in the hall on Dunford Road. Mrs. P. N. Welch presided. A letter from Miss Stone, of the Queen Alexandra Solum, acknowledged gift by Mrs. W. T. Dixon of a furnished doll's house. The usual donation was made to the Travelers' Aid of the Y.W.C.A., Victoria. Miss L. M. A. Savory, Mrs. R. J. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Macdonald and Mrs. H. A. Macdonald were elected as the social committee. The first card party will be held on Wednesday, October 19. Mrs. P. N. Welch and Mrs. J. E. Macdonald were appointed delegates to the South Vancouver Island district conference on October 12 and 13, and the institute agreed to pay one-third of the cost of a luncheon to the visiting delegates. A paper was given by Mrs. Welch on the provincial school survey and a demonstration of rug weaving, using silk clothing was given by Mrs. J. E. Macdonald. Bottled fruit and jam were donated for the Solum, and further donations should be sent to the home of the president. The hostesses were the president and secretary.

A social evening with dancing and refreshments will be held on Tuesday, October 4, at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1414 Highway, commencing at 8.30 o'clock. A varied programme will be given and many novel attractions have been planned by the Women's Auxiliary to Prince Edward branch of the Canadian Legion.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate to fresh breeze, clearing to southerly winds, partly cloudy and cool, with showers.

Before going to Vancouver last evening Dr. Lewis Hall was asked by a Times representative if he intended to be an alderman candidate again this year. He replied in the negative, giving as his reason the fact that he intended to be a candidate for the mayoralty instead.

A new and large freighter for the Union Steamship Company of British Columbia will be launched from one of the shipbuilding firms of British Columbia in time to participate in the freight carrying trade between Victoria and Vancouver and northern British Columbia ports next year, says The Vancouver Province.

After establishing a gas buoy at San Juan the steamer William Joffe, of the B.C. Salvage Company, which is now under charter to the Marine and Fisheries Department, returned to port yesterday.

The Sidney Brick and Tile Company is a new firm which it is understood has been created among the rich Chinese merchants of Victoria for the purpose of manufacturing bricks, drain tiles and earthenware goods of all kinds near the little town of Sidney.

All records in the customs receipts have been shattered by the returns just to hand for the month of September. The total reached was $137,177.73.

been called off, and students have been advised by the University of Manitoba Students' Union to pay their fees.

The Manitoban, university newspaper, yesterday carried a statement from Jon S. Anderson, president of the union, advising students to pay the increased fees, and charging Premier John Bracken, Hon. R. A. Hoy, Minister of Education, and the board of governors of the university with "contradiction and incompetence."

EMPIRE AND TARIFF DEBATE

Canadian Press

London, Sept. 29.—A note of optimism is struck in the current issue of the Glasgow Chamber of Commerce Journal in an article dealing with the Ottawa Conference. The writer says that, far from the Ottawa agreements compromising this country in its arrangements with foreign countries, they should add greatly to the United Kingdom's strength in that the United Kingdom is going into the World Economic Conference as an empire with a definite and co-ordinated plan.

An abatement in the "tariff war" that is disabling many countries is held to be rendered more feasible now that the British Empire has a united front. On the model approved by the British Empire, states the article, there will be an approach to a really "scientific" system of world tariffs.

BOB PEARCE HOME AGAIN AFTER OLYMPIC VICTORY
Holder of the Diamond Sculls, winner of the singles championship at the Olympic games at Los Angeles, and world's unbeaten oarsman, Bob Pearce, the Australian-Canadian, is shown here as he returned from the Olympics. His racing shell strapped to the roof of his Chevrolet coupe, Pearce drove from Hamilton, Ontario, to Los Angeles and back, bringing with him on the return trip another world's title. Although Pearce rowed under Australian colors, he has lived in Hamilton two years and Canada has adopted him as one of her own athletes.

COCOANUT BAVARIAN CREAM

One package lemon gelatine; 1 pint boiling water; 1 cup cream, whipped; 1 can coconut, southern style. Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Chill until cold and syrupy. DITMARS BACK WITHOUT SNAKE

Fails to Get Rare Bushmaster, Ancestor of Rattlesnake, in Panama Jungle

But He Brings Operatic Katydid, "Boop-a-Doop" Frog and Spurred Grasshoppers

New York, Sept. 29.—Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles and mammals at the Bronx, returned on the United Fruit liner Calamare from an unsuccessful expedition to Panama, where he searched for the bushmaster, the largest, poisonous snake on the American continent.

Mr. Ditmars did not return empty-handed, as he brought back, in collaboration with Arthur Greenball, a student of the University of Michigan, what he termed the operatic star of the insect world, and other creatures upon which he gazed fondly with the same almost fatherly affection that characterizes his attitude to all his charges.

The insect is a tropical katydid, endowed with superior vocal powers. It sings "katydid" on any and all occasions with a perfection of voice and a delicate sense of nuance that thrilled even observers without Mr. Ditmars' generous imagination.

There was also a handsome bronze frog, the hoop-a-doop kind of the southern world. There this artist sits upon a toadstool entrancing his jungle audience with deep throated boop-a-doops.

ALL FOR MICHIGAN MUSEUM
Mr. Ditmars brought back other items, all of which will go to the University of Michigan Museum, for which Mr. Greenball was working under the guidance of the experienced animal hunter. These included a number of iguanas, a velvet-black tarantula named Black Beauty and some huge grasshoppers with spurs like a rooster's.

There had been reports that seven bushmasters had been killed in the vicinity of Manzanillo, and the possibility of finding one of the rare reptiles there sent Mr. Ditmars on his expedition. The fact that only two specimens were known to exist, one from South America, had seen the inside of the Bronx Zoo in thirty-three years made the search the more thrilling. The last of these died eighteen years ago.

On arriving at the dam the snake-hunters learned that eleven more bushmasters had been killed in eighty-five days, but in the three days they spent there they did not see a single one.

Abe Halliday, the engineer in charge of the dam, for the United States and the Zoo curator in examining the habitat of the bushmaster, about which he made some interesting discoveries. The bushmaster, which is generally regarded as the ancestor of the rattlesnake, lives in fissures in limestone ledges. It apparently hunts at dawn and dusk, living on small animals and birds and rests during the heat of the day.

ENTER BAT-FILLED CAVE
Dr. Ditmars and his party climbed through one of the fissures and found themselves in a cave about fifty feet in depth, in which great bats flew back and forth constantly, fanning the air with their great eighteen-inch wings.

The bushmaster, at full growth, is about twelve feet long and twelve inches in diameter. Its scales are rough and stand out in little knobs like the "outside of a pineapple." Its fangs are an inch and a half long and the head is shaped similar to that of the cobra. The snake can coil and strike at about half its length, warning its victim by a buzzing vibration of the tail.

The reptile has few human victims, but those it does reach die within ten minutes unless a special serum is applied immediately.

The Bronx curator has chartered the Panama bushmaster territory and hopes to go there next year on an intensive search. He said the spot is in the heart of the jungle, but a concrete road built to transport machinery for the dam work now makes it readily accessible.

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD
Under the next heading, "Liquor Control Board," I might say much, but do not propose to do so. It will be remembered that a number of years ago the late Premier Oliver, who at the time was practically unknown to the public, in his capacity as Acting Attorney-General, requested me to investigate the employment of the recently constituted Liquor Board. Notwithstanding my objections on account of the personal annoyance which I foresaw as a result, I finally acceded to the Premier's request and a number of detailed reports were made in due course on the specific subjects laid down.

The final report, which I submitted, according to Premier Oliver's request, I made the same statement to him, in the same office, that I did to Premier Tolmie on my appointment as Departmental Commissioner, viz., that I had no interest in party politics; that if I made a report I would have to the line quite independent of where the chips fell and that if this were not satisfactory to some one else must do the work. I shall never forget Premier Oliver's fervent "Thank God" when I said I was not interested in party politics.

METCHOSIN
E. R. Johnson has gone to Vancouver for a short visit. Rupert Skelton is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Skelton. Miss K. House, R.N., has returned to the Trail-Tadema Hospital at Trail, B.C., after holidaying with her parents.

Mrs. Minns has returned to Athol. The board has a right to present to push the sale of liquor from a purely profit-making standpoint. While I strongly support government control, I think it was most regrettable that in its inception it was found politically advisable to lay undue emphasis on profit to be made by the government and the delegates to the board. Both in fact in training to do with profits from this source, the better it will be for the taxpayer and all concerned.

200 Prizes, $2.00 each		TOTAL $2,500.00

Here are seven different and well-recognized uses for Fry's Cocoa, arranged in alphabetical order:

Cake Icing
Cakes and Puddings Children's Drink
Chocolate Fudge
Chocolate Sauce
Hot Cocoa Drink
Iced Cocoa Drink

DISREGARDING the above order entirely, write down these seven uses in what you think is the order of their popularity in the average home. Study the uses and figure out for yourself what is likely to be the popular order.

Send your entry to us (see conditions below) to be included in our $2,500.00 Prize Competition. The use you put first will be given a score of 7 points; the use you put second will be given 6 points; the use you put third will be given 5 points; the use you put fourth will be given 4 points; your fifth choice will be given 3 points; your sixth choice will receive 2 points and your seventh or last choice, 1 point.

Each and every entry received will be treated in exactly the same way. When the Competition closes (which will be November 15th, 1932) the totals from all entries will be added up and the use securing the highest number of points will be adjudged the most popular one. The use securing the second highest number of points will be adjudged the second most popular use. The use securing the third largest number of points will receive third place and so on down the line.

The $2,500.00 in cash prizes will be awarded to those who have listed all seven uses in the order nearest to the order determined by popular vote.

How to Enter the Contest

Simply remove the label from a tin of Fry's Breakfast Cocoa (either a one-pound or half-pound size) and write on the back of it the seven uses in the order of your choice and number them accordingly. Below that write your name and address plainly—preferably in printed characters. Then mail your entry to Dept. C, J. S. FRY & SONS (Canada) Limited, 2025 Masson Street, Montreal.

COMMENT! ON KIDD COMMITTEE REPORT

By LIEUTENANT-CORONEL R. ROSS NAPIER (Formerly Departmental Commissioner)

PART SIX
Following the chapter dealing with personal or official, of some of the Department of Finance, the report of the committee, other than political, under various heads, deals principally with matters of policy rather than administration, and may therefore be dealt with in less detail than that of the preceding sections. A famous British statesman of long experience recently stated that every new minister on the future, even though it should be a summing office and dilating enthusiasm necessary to appoint extra officially to the chief of the permanent staff on some scheme of administrative reform, provided the appointees be reform which he fondly imagines to be a future, even though it should be a summing office and dilating enthusiasm necessary to appoint extra officially to the chief of the permanent staff on some scheme of administrative reform, provided the appointees be reform which he fondly imagines to be a future, even though it should be a summing office and dilating enthusiasm necessary to appoint extra officially to the chief of the permanent staff on some scheme of administrative reform, provided the appointees be reform which he fondly imagines to be a future, even though it should be a summing office and dilating enthusiasm necessary to appoint extra officially to the chief of the permanent staff on some scheme of administrative reform, provided the appointees be reform which he fondly imagines to be a future, even though it should be a summing office and dilating Intellectual Co-operation Only Basis of World Peace

Says Mme. Dreyfus-Barney to Business Women's Club; Describes Work of Geneva Conference on Disarmament; Challenges Women to Mould Public Opinion for Peace

"The problems we face politically, socially and economically are no longer purely local in character. They must be measured and acted upon from an international standpoint, otherwise we shall not get beyond the limitations which are not of our time. It is no longer possible to count on neighbors only these nations adjacent to us. Progress has made the whole world neighbors, interwoven into a great whole. The material development of the world has progressed amazingly, with great inventions being made, new facilities being discovered. The only thing which remains bound, set, crystallized, in an era of progress is our method of using these facilities. These discoveries can not fit into the old-fashioned frame into which we are trying to force them. We must find a new order, enlarge our horizon, broaden our vision."

TO HONOR LATE MRS. RHODES

Jubilee W.A. to Erect Memorial Tablet in Hospital As Tribute to Her Work

The Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital in conjunction with the board of directors, will erect a bronze memorial tablet in the hospital to the memory of the late Mrs. C. W. Rhodes, who was president of the auxiliary and a member of the hospital board for over twenty-five years. A framed portrait of Mrs. Rhodes, suitably inscribed, will also be placed in the sunroom of the fourth floor, which has always been the special wish of the auxiliary.

The tablet and portrait will be unveiled on the occasion of the annual thanksgiving linen shower, which is to be held on Thursday, October 27. This was decided at yesterday's meeting of the auxiliary, held in the Nurses' Home. Mrs. W. A. Chambers and Mrs. Herman Robertson, president and first vice-president respectively, were appointed a committee to make arrangements with the board of directors in this regard.

Purchases of rugs, chintz curtains, bath sheets, flannelette and towels for the fourth floor were authorized. Donations were received from the following members: Miss Agnew, $5; Mrs. Tremblay, $5; Miss Kate Galt, $5; Mrs. F. W. Leach, $5; Miss M. Hodge, $5; C. H. Barnard, Mrs. W. F. Bullen, Mrs. W. T. Cathcart, Mrs. W. H. Bullock, Webster, Miss E. Carr, Mrs. G. R. Robson, Mrs. T. Ashe, Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. Frank Grant, Mrs. E. W. Boak, Mrs. Gregson and Mrs. J. H. King.

Hillcrest Tennis Dance.—The Hillcrest Tennis Club will hold its first dance of the season to-morrow evening at Hillcrest, Lakeside. During the evening Hugo-Raymont will present the trophies won in the recent Esquimalt and club tournaments.

Tag Day to Aid Needy Children

To raise much-needed funds for the carrying on of its work in providing milk for ill-nourished children in the city schools—a work made more imperative owing to the times—the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E. will hold a tag day on Saturday. The chapter has spent many thousands of dollars since it inaugurated this splendid undertaking, and school teachers and nurses, as well as grateful parents, have testified to the immense benefit derived by the children from this daily ration of milk. The chapter therefore hopes for a generous response to its appeal. Headquarters for the day will be at the New Thought Hall, Fort Street, and Mrs. L. S. Grogan and Mrs. P. Jordan will be the conveners. During the day coffee and cakes will be served to those tagging.

GANDHI'S MESSAGE

In conclusion Mme. Dreyfus-Barney recalled an interview she and her husband had with Mahatma Gandhi in India last year. On arriving at his quarters he had discovered that it was one of his "days of silence," but he received them—and conducted his conversation with them by means of written messages.

In reply to a question regarding the possibility of peace and a solution to the unrest prevalent at that time, Gandhi wrote: "The world is not yet ready to make the sacrifice necessary to attain the goal of peace," and these words might well be quoted during today's present troubles, suggested the speaker.

REMINDED TO VOTE

During the supper which preceded the meeting, Miss Norwood Jones with much artistry sang "My Ships" and "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," ably accompanied at the piano by Miss Maguinn Daniels. Two new members, Miss Helen Willis and Miss Winifred Urquhart, were cordially welcomed.

Miss Clay reminded the members of their membership qualification, which calls for exercise of the franchise, asking them to register on the municipal voters' list. Announcements were made of the supper meeting to be held on Tuesday, October 11, instead of on Thanksgiving Day, and of the business meeting on October 24, when the minutes of the recent annual convention and the reports of the delegates will be discussed.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Fleet Robertson has returned from Seattle and is resident at the Oak Bay Hotel.

Miss Gladys Irving, Terrace Avenue, is spending a few days in Vancouver as the guest of friends.

Mr. N. E. Suddaby of Fernie is spending a few days in Victoria with his mother, Mrs. Suddaby, Island Road, Oak Bay.

After visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. MacDougall, in Vancouver for the last month, Miss Evelyn Bonavia has returned to her home, Vining Street.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Crump, Beach Drive, will leave early in October for Fresno, California, where they will spend about three weeks.

Mrs. C. E. Laundry, St. Patrick Street, who is visiting in Vancouver as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. MacDonald, is expected back in Victoria on Sunday.

Mr. Robert Bertram of Abbotsford, Scotland, is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Moir of "The Bend," Langford Lake, for three weeks.

Mrs. J. W. Benning, Beresford Place, will leave on Sunday for the mainland en route to New York. Prior to returning to Victoria in about a month's time, Mrs. Benning will visit in Hot Springs, Virginia.

Miss Maxine Ewart left Victoria this afternoon for Seattle, where she will take up her studies at the University of Washington. She was accompanied by Miss Nell Muirhead, who will spend the week-end with her.

Mrs. Richard Rust of Murrayville, who has been visiting in Victoria as the guest of her cousins, Col. A. H. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett, Terrace Avenue, has returned to her home on the mainland.

A very much enjoyed silver tea was held at the home of Mrs. W. F. Regan, Pandora Avenue, yesterday afternoon, in aid of the funds of St. Louis College. Mrs. Regan was thanked for her generous hospitality.

Mr. Fred Landsberg, who has been attending in Vancouver a meeting of the directors of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, of which he is vice-president, has returned to his home in Victoria.

Mrs. L. R. Andrews accompanied her father, Premier Tupper, on his motor trip to Kamloops for the opening of the fall fair and the Rotary Club luncheon in the interior city Tuesday. They expect to return to Victoria to-morrow.

Major J. S. Murchie, who was recently transferred from Winnipeg to York Point Barracks, and Mrs. Murchie, who have been guests at the James Bay Hotel since their arrival, will take up their residence on Lampson Street early in October.

Madame Dreyfus-Barney of Paris was the guest of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson, at luncheon at Government House, yesterday. Others present were Miss Crease and Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas of the Local Council of Women; Miss Helen Johnson and Major A. S. Humphreys.

Miss Dorothy Cox of the Western School of Dancing, Burdett Avenue, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cox, who are on leave from the Ministry of Dancing Teachers at London, England, and who traveled back on the St. Montrose, is expected to arrive in Victoria at the week-end.

Miss Margaret Sands of Cedar Crescent, Vancouver, entertained at five tables of bridge recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jackson, who are leaving Vancouver early in October to take up residence in Victoria. A no-host party was also given them—on Saturday evening at the Commodore Hotel, when covers were laid for twenty.

Miss Edith Roth entertained informally at "luncheon" at Fairfield Road, at the tea hour on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. M. O. Davies, who is sailing for England next week. The guests included Mrs. M. C. Davies, Mrs. W. T. Cooke, Mrs. J. M. Crookston, Mrs. W. J. Walford, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. B. O. Betton, Miss Rose Birch, Miss Nell Bradshaw, Mrs. W. M. C. Moore, Mrs. Horace Pimble and Mrs. H. S. Green.

Mrs. Merle North, L.A.B., entertained her pupils at a delightful musical evening Monday evening. During the evening Miss North presented the certificates for the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music, London, to Miss Merle North, Phyllis Fendley, Margaret Allen, Mrs. Sadie Wade, Caroline Woolley, Eleanor Gropp and Geoffrey Page. At the close of the program Myrtle Shaw and Ruth Howard presented Mrs. North with a beautiful bouquet as a token of appreciation.

Miss Audrey Bland was hostess to the "Sevens of Twenty-eight" Club on Tuesday evening. There were three tables of bridge in play, the first prize being won by Miss Margaret Wilkie, the consolation by Miss Nina Ferguson. Refreshments were served from a table centred with a bowl of orange and yellow nasturtiums and yellow candles. Members present were: Misses Joan Depasdale, Evelyn Morris, Olive Ormond, Doris Benwell, Margaret Wilkie, Margaret Hemmings, Mary Ross, "Tommy" Gray, Dorothy Ashman, Nina Ferguson, Katharine Barlow and Audrey Bland.

The Women's Guild of Centennial Church held a most successful silver tea at the home of Mrs. H. B. Harris, 245 George Road, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. Cox, the president, assisted Mrs. Harris in the receiving of the guests. The reception hall was a mass of dahlias and Michaelmas daisies, while the tea table was pretty with yellow candles in silver sconces with blue larkspur. Presiding at the tea were Mrs. J. Cox and Mrs. H. B. Harris, while Mrs. J. Gray assisted in serving. An enjoyable programme was given when Mrs. J. Prisk, Mrs. S. Eden and Miss Betty Couch rendered vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Green. The proceeds from the affair will go towards the mortgage fund of the church.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

PLAY IS CHILD'S CHIEF OCCU-PATIONEvery parent feels that the child has a pretty easy time of it. "Nothing to do but play," they say anxiously. In their minds play is synonymous with recreation in their own lives.
The child's play and the adult's recreation have different objectives.
The adult chooses a form of recreation that differs from the activity in which he is engaged. He plays golf as an antithesis to office work. The child's play is a business, not a recreation. It is a form of learning. Every play in which he engages teaches him something.
either new uses for his senses, greater muscle skill or varied experiences which build up his body of knowledge.

IMAGINATION PLAYS PART

Because of his lack of skill, the child is prohibited from doing many things which his imagination can encompass.
In play he brings those desires to life.
If he plays horse, he is a rider on a real horse, not a boy on a broomstick. He conceives his own activities, but he also learns their results. It is easy enough to pretend he is climbing the mountain when he scales the linen closet shelves, but he discovers that there are real dangers which may surpass those of real mountain climbing.
He becomes aware of real dangers as well as imaginary ones, and his experience is enriched.Children need toys with which to feed their imaginations. They cannot play successfully without some of the tools of play. Some children seem to have difficulty playing even with the toys provided them. They constantly demand the inclusion of the adult into the play. Sometimes this is the fault of the toys, sometimes the fault of the mother for so constantly including herself in the child's play. He becomes dependent upon her instead of upon his own imagination.

SELECT RIGHT TOYS

Toys that are good ones should keep the child satisfied. He may turnfrom one toy to another in ceaseless round. This does not indicate a lack of interest, but merely the transitoriness of his interest. If he is always destructive, it may mean that he needs building toys, rather than finished toys, so that he may pull them apart when their form loses its interest for him.Just an abundance of toys does not mean that the mother has done her entire duty in promoting the child's interesting and developing play. Too many toys may be definitely harmful in that they distract the child and prevent his interest from being harnessed.
The mother can do much to increase her knowledge of what interests children by just careful observation. She finds that babies like to crumple and tear paper, that they like to shake objects which make a noise, that they are interested in colors.

WHAT DOES HE WANT?

As the child grows older, she finds that objects which fit into each other are of absorbing interest. The older child likes to cut and hammer and saw, mold clay, scribble, pull things about, climb and swing and hang and ride on things. If she provides him the material with which to carry out these fundamental activities, she has no cause to complain that he simply cannot be interested in playing. Perhaps my leaflet called "Toys Suitable for Various Ages" will increase her ideas about what to buy to what the child's interest in play. The leaflet is available to any reader who will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request for it to me in care of this newspaper.ATTRACTIVE HOTEL FOR

SEEING AGAINLetter From Woman Whose Sight Was Restored Read
Before Institute MeetingThe thrilling joy experienced by one who had been blind for years and whose sight was restored as the result of modern science and the skill of a British Columbia oculist, was expressed in a unique letter received by M. C.
Robinson, superintendent of the Western Division, Canadian National Institute for the Blind.This letter was read at the September board meeting of the western division of the institute at Vancouver.
It was with great satisfaction that the board members learned of the hope which had come to the blind woman when the service of home teaching had been extended to her by the institute and which resulted in her reading intelligently by means of the Braille system; how later she found the free library service such a constant source of pleasure.She also referred to the assistance she had received through free transportation on the B.C. Electric Railway and to the satisfaction and independence which had been hers as a result of the institute providing her with means of employment which assured her of an adequate livelihood. The letter contained reference to the pleasure she had derived through the free theatre passes given by the Famous Players Corporation and administered by the institute.Most of all, perhaps, she had appreciated the personal interest taken and assistance rendered in her domestic problems which had proved such a source of comfort. The deepest gratitude was expressed for the help given through the institute's prevention of blindness department.
It was also reported that an interesting Victoria case has lately come to the attention of the institute—that of a young man, partly paralyzed from childhood, unable to walk and having the use of only one hand. In spite of this handicap he was anxious to learn some handicraft to occupy his time.

CHAPTER XLVI

The native cry struck terror in both girls' hearts. "Boss Steve hurt by fer-de-lance!" The deadly snake of the west Indies! If Steve was a victim of the fer-de-lance he would miss Lottie's groans and hurried forward. Mona closed behind. The car had reached the entrance now. Barry was issuing orders and Bud was helping the native boys lift out Steve.

With quick, sharp directions from Miss Gracie they carried Steve into the house and laid him gently on a lounge. The terror-stricken natives were hustled away. Jossie came running, bringing hot water. Outside the door Mona and Lottie waited, too frightened to speak.

Suddenly Lottie said, "The Miranda! Dr. Allen is aboard with serum. Oh, Mona, if we could only get some of that serum perhaps it would save him! She glanced at her watch. 'I'm going to try, Mona—!'

The maid passed with a basin of water. Lottie ran into the room where Barry was. "Barry," she cried, "Quick! If we can get anti-toxin from the snake institute won't that save him?" Quickly she explained her plan. Dr. Allen was aboard the Miranda bringing serum from the snake institute to Martinique. If he could be reached she knew he would help them.

A light of incredulous joy spread over Barry's face as Lottie went on talking. The Miranda was a scant fifteen minutes away by plane. If there was anti-toxin aboard they must send for it.

He called Bud and explained Steve's life was at stake. Miss Gracie, adept in such matters, would know what to do until they could return. "Let me go with you, Bud," begged Lottie. "I'm going—!" "Don't you think you'd better stay here, Lottie, in case Steve wants you?" "I'll need someone to help me!" interposed Miss Gracie. "Do they mean in case Steve wants her or in case Steve dies?" Mona thought to herself. Instantly her mind was made up. "I'll go with Barry and Bud," she announced. "I know Dr. Allen. You stay here, Lottie. That's the best way."

Miss Gracie, kneeling by the couch, was bathing Steve's wounded leg. Lottie, watching, thought she would faint as she saw the woman pick up a sharp kitchen knife and, with sharp, merciless jabs, cut crimson into the wounded flesh. Steve lay with his eyes closed. He barely winced at the knife cuts. His face seemed incredibly pale.

Mona ran to the entrance where Bud and Barry had arrived with the car. The automobile coughed, choked and then went hurtling forward. Out the yard down through the tunnel of trees to the airport. It was a half a mile yet almost instantly Lottie heard the roar of the engine and saw the Ladybird rise in the air, hesitate then go roaring on, its nose in the direction of Granada. Lottie came back to the porch. Jossie knelt there sobbing, holding a basin of water and watching Miss Gracie's capable hands.

"Find some disinfectant, Lottie," Miss Gracie ordered sharply. "Upside the girl flew. Disinfectant? Where would it be? Her fingers fumbled about the medicine chest. Ah, this was it. This would do!

OUT OUR WAY

length Lottie opened her eyes. She was in her own room lying on the bed and Mona was bending anxiously over her. Dr. Allen, smiling anxiously, stood at the other side of the bed. But the doctor was here when he should be with Steve! That was Lottie's first thought. Almost immediately she noticed that it was day outside. She must have lain faint for hours. Her lips moved but the words did not come.

"Do you want Steve?" Mona asked. "Oh, he's all right now. We brought the doctor with us, you know. Reached Granada just in time. The boat was blowing its last whistle. The serum was there too and it worked perfectly. 'Steve will be beating you at golf in a few weeks,' Dr. Allen promised. 'You're sure he's all right?'"

"Of course. I'm going to stay around though until he's able to turn hand-springs."

"Steve is in his own room," Mona added. "The boys carried him up where he'd be more comfortable. When he's a little less drowsy he'll want to talk to you."

"I'll be down for dinner," Lottie promised. "You certainly will not, young woman," Dr. Allen said. "We'll have it sent to you." He stood in the door a moment, offering casual advice, and then went off to Steve's room, often crying, "Lottie! Lottie! Lottie!"

"You said him for me," Lottie cried softly, wiping her eyes. "You and Barry, it looks as though Steve and I will have to do something for you two."

But Mona's thoughts raced back to that fifteen minutes in the plane when everything except Steve's life seemed unimportant. Those fifteen minutes had taught her a lesson. She looked at Lottie with shining eyes. "Perhaps you have done it already," she said.

The weeks drifted by. Steve, pale and weak but each day growing more like himself, limped about with a cane. He spent the time sitting on the terrace, driving to the golf course, or—often lying in the shade of the coconut palm trees on the sand joking with Lottie.

Dr. Allen remained at Holiday. Bud had returned to the mine and would wait until Steve would be strong enough to make the trip. Then Lottie would both go. That meant that Lottie and Mona would soon be setting off for the north.

"Though it isn't really necessary for us to go back to New York," Mona said to her friend. "We might just travel by air to Mexico or Spain or—drop off at—Guadalupe and take one of the French liners to France."

They could pack at half an hour's notice. After the period of anxiety Steve—when death had seemed so close—almost all problems had become dwarfed. Life was suddenly smooth and tranquil.

"Mary me, Mona!" was Barry's constant plea. "Perhaps," she did not add aloud, as she always did in her heart, "if you'll let me sell the Empress or if you'll let me buy back your shares in the mine."

During the first few days of Steve's illness when Dr. Allen had assumed charge of the household and Lottie, the maid, had been constantly to be found near Steve's door, Mona had reached a decision. She had plenty of time to herself in which to think. She had written to Withington, the jeweler, asking him to open negotiations with the Maharajah. She had thought of calling him, but she was too shy. She wanted to keep her plans secret.

Barry and Mona went to Granada frequently now since Bud was no longer there to take care of errands. Since Steve's illness Miss Gracie had become most demanding about his fare. The chickens, clucking about the doorway, belonged to the cook. There were fewer chickens now. They had to be supplemented by others to supply fresh eggs as well as meat. Miss Gracie insisted upon plenty of vegetables and fruits too.

Mona ransacked the market for new dainties to tempt Steve's appetite and for tropic delicacies to serve Dr. Allen. "Don't you like, grapes?" Mona asked Barry as they strolled in the market place. "They are so—stay, so dainty! They ought to taste like pickled limes. I think, but they surprise you."

The two were idling about Granada. A boat from the north was expected with mail and Mona wanted to wait until it arrived. There would be an other hour possibly before the post-office emissary would have it sorted. Mona and Barry strolled about the town. "Like tourists," Barry said amusedly. He stopped to buy Turkish cigarettes for Steve, a quaint necklace for Lottie and some calicoes for Jossie and Florence. For Maria they bought a pipe with a large can of tobacco. Then came the question of Miss Gracie!

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Nuts

(By HOWARD E. GARIS)

Mrs. Longears was having a party of some of her animal friends one day to look at a new window box of flowers Uncle Wiggily had made. But while the ladies were sitting out on the yard beneath the flower box, drinking tea, all of a sudden they were showered with water. At first Mrs. Longears thought her husband was watering the flowers, but Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, grunted:

"No! I see who it is! Oh, such a trick!"

"Who is it?" asked Mrs. Longears. "It is Baby Bunt of any of our little rabbits."

"No, it's a boy!" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, who was standing on her chair so she could look into the room through the window over the flower box. "It's a small boy and he has a red, toy fire engine."

"It must be Little Bub," said Mrs. Longears. "Has he red cheeks and blue eyes and golden hair?"

"Yes," answered Mrs. Twistytail. "This boy looks like the rainbow in a soap bubble."

"That's Little Bub all right!" said Mrs. Longears. "Oh, Bub, what are you doing?" she asked. "Are you looking for Uncle Wiggily to go adventuring?"

"No, I am watering your flowers with my toy fire engine," said Bub. "But if Uncle Wig is here I'd like to go adventuring with him."

"He isn't here," said the rabbit lady. "Then I'll water the flowers some more. They are thirsty," said Little Bub, who had gone into the bungalow for the north.

"Oh, clothespins!" grunted the lady pig, and she fell side off the chair upon the grass. Being very fat, like her husband, she didn't get hurt at all. Up she bounced like a rubber ball, saying:

"You mustn't do that again, Little Bub. It's naughty!"

"No'm, I won't," answered the rainbow boy. "There isn't any more water left in my fire engine. But I can get more if you want me to."

"Oh, no! No!" cried Mrs. Longears. "You have nearly spoiled my window box party as it is. The flowers are wet and the grass is being very fat, like her husband, she didn't get hurt at all. Up she bounced like a rubber ball, saying:

"Thank you for letting us wet the flowers," said Bub, who was very polite. "When I came in the back way looking for Uncle Wig I thought they needed wetting, so I did."

"Yes, and you wet all of us!" moved Mrs. Furr, the lady cat. But no one else was angry with Little Bub very long. So they forgave him and he went down the back steps with his toy fire engine, which now had no more water in it.

Little Bub was hopping over the vacant lot back of the bunny's hollow stump bungalow when he met Uncle Wiggily himself.

"Where are you going, Uncle Wig?" asked the rainbow boy. "I am going to look for some nut trees that I may tell Johnnie and Billie about. The squirrels, where to go to gather nuts after school," said the rabbit gentleman.

"May I come with you?" asked Little Bub. "Yes," answered Mr. Longears, "you may. Where have you been, Bub?" "I have been watering the animal ladies," answered Bub. "Hi! Hi," laughed the bunny uncle. "I have heard of watering flowers, but I never heard of watering ladies. And when he told what had happened Uncle Wiggily laughed again. Then he and the little boy went to the woods. There they found on the ground many prickly burrs of the chestnut tree. Inside the prickly, sharp, sticky burrs were the brown nuts. But Jack Frost would have to open the burrs with his cold fingers before the brown nuts would tumble out for the squirrels to eat.

"Isn't this fun?" cried Little Bub, hopping about and helping Uncle Wiggily gather the nuts. "Lots of fun," said the rabbit gentleman. "Put all the stickier nut burrs in a pile, Bub, so Johnnie and Billie will know where to find them after school."

"I will!" said the rainbow boy, and he laughed for joy. But all of a sudden there was a rustling noise in the bushes. "Some one is coming!" said Little Bub. "Maybe it's the squirrels!"

"It wasn't. Who it was I shall tell you to-morrow night when the nut-bushes are about Uncle Wiggily and the noisy Fox. And please ask the roller skate to stop running over the lake on the letter 'Q' when it is trying to spell quick."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY VARY MENUS WITH SWEET POTATOES

Sweet potatoes are coming into market in abundance these days and are an economical means of adding variety to menus. They can be served in a number of appetizing ways that increase the caloric content of a meal effectively. When you buy sweet potatoes, remember that they are not hardy like their Irish cousins but are susceptible to temperature and dampness and spoil quickly. Calculate your needs and buy them in comparatively small quantities in order to avoid waste.

In substituting sweet potatoes for Irish potatoes, the whole meal must be considered. Sweet potatoes are higher in fat and carbohydrates but lower in protein than Irish potatoes. One-half of a baked sweet potato provides 100 calories, while one whole, medium-sized Irish potato is necessary to furnish the 100-calorie portion. Both sweet and Irish potatoes are good carriers for fat, since their palatability depends greatly on a generous seasoning of butter.

Vitamin A—so essential for growth and the building of new tissues—is present in sweet potatoes in considerable quantity. In fact, it's a much richer source of this vitamin than is the Irish potato. Vitamins B and C are found in small amounts.

Southern cooks are adept at cooking sweet potatoes. They wash the delicious rolls, using sweet potatoes in place of the usual Irish. Desserts also are delectable made with sweet potatoes, while the vegetable dishes are many and inviting.

Twice-baked sweet potatoes are very simple to make. Bake until tender. Then cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out pulp. Mash and season with salt, pepper, lots of butter and cream. Toss to mix. Beat until light and fluffy. Chopped nuts can be added if liked. Pile mixture lightly into the shells and brush over with melted butter. Return to the oven to make very hot, and brown tops.

Sweet potatoes can be mashed and seasoned and piled in a buttered baking dish to be topped with marshmallows. Put into a moderate oven to toast the marshmallows. Be careful not to have the oven too hot as the marshmallows cook quickly.

SWEET POTATOES BAKED WITH APPLE
This delicious dish comes from Virginia. Use three medium-sized sweet potatoes, 4 apples, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup hot water.

Scrub potatoes and boil until tender. Peel and cut in thick slices. Pare apples and cut in slices like potatoes. Put in alternation layers in a well-buttered baking dish with potatoes in bottom of dish. Sprinkle each layer with sugar and dot with butter. Pour over hot water and bake until apples are tender. It will take about thirty minutes. Serve from baking dish.

To-morrow's Menu. Breakfast—Grapes, cereal, cream, plain omelet, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Puree of sweet potatoes and green peppers, pear and endive salad, graham cracker and date roll, lemonade. Dinner—Lamb steaks with stewed apples, buttered corn, steamed oysters and tomatoes, sweet potato and coconut pudding, milk, coffee.

gives you the startling sensation that the artist is with you—right in the room!

Victor Bi-acoustic Radio, Model R-54. Complete with 10 tubes . . . $129.00. Other Victor models range in price from $49.50 up.

Radio's greatest development . . . your Victor dealer will prove it!

Go to your Victor dealer. Make him prove our claim—that Victor Bi-acoustic Radio is the most distinct advance in radio since the advent of the all-electric set. Your dealer can prove it . . . you can prove it. Listen to a demonstration. Better still, operate it yourself. Then you will realize why everyone is talking about this radically different instrument, this vastly superior tone.

... Tone full and true throughout the entire musical scale, at lowest or highest volume. Tone crystal clear, unmarred by "tinniness" or distortion. A musical range actually richer by two full octaves—music that no previous radio ever reproduced.

Victor Bi-acoustic Radio, the improved super-heterodyne, is not just a new model . . . it is a completely new development. Your Victor dealer will explain the extra features which give double the power, double the range and double the tone quality.

Victor Bi-acoustic Radio is offered to you in a choice of three beautiful console models ranging from $129 to $189.50 . . . and may be purchased on convenient terms.

ADDS TO RANCH

Lethbridge, Alta., Sept. 28.—(Canadian Press)—Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, has purchased another section of land adjoining his new stock ranch in the Pincher Creek district near the Waterton Lakes National Park. This will give the minister two and one-half sections. Livestock on the Weir ranch is reported in splendid condition.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

When Mother Was a Child, Did She Really
"Always Do as She Was Told?"—Seventeen Risks Whole Future Happiness
In Marrying Man With Two Children

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young girl in my teens and very unhappy at home. My mother and I do not get along together at all and she disapproves of everything I do, although I do nothing wrong. One of the things that gets my goat is that she is always setting herself up as an older sister, and she makes me mad through and through. She says that when she was a girl she never did anything of which her parents disapproved nor ever "sassed" them. Do you think that in the twenty-one years she lived at home she never said an unthoughtful or unkind word or disobeyed her father's and mother's wishes? I do not. Anyway, not for me.

Answer—Well, Bertie, I am inclined to agree with you and surmise that perhaps your mother was not quite the pin-feathered angel when she was a girl that she represents herself to be. But when she describes herself as a paragon she really does not mean it. To be taken literally, she is merely holding an ideal up to you of what she would like you to be and also she is trying to fix a picture of mother perfection in your mind. Something for you to revere and how-low before.

One of the most pathetic things in his world is the passionate desire that parents have for their children's admiration. Above everything else they long for their children to look up to them and think them little tin gods, the least strongest, the most wonderful people on earth. That is why father tells up and becomes oracular and dictatorial in the home circle, and the brave "mother knows best" is always on mother's lips.

And this is why, when the children differ with their father and mother on any subject or venture any criticism of anything they do, father and mother consider them impertinent and punish them because they have committed the crime of less majesty. They have questioned the infallible, and the poor parents who see their godhead slipping away from them are hurt and offended.

Personally, I think it is a great mistake for parents to put themselves on a pedestal and hand out to their children this great-agent story of their youthful perfections because it creates a barrier between them that the youngsters have not the courage even to try to surmount. It makes the parents' good that they cease to be human, and the children feel that they have nothing in common with these superior beings.

According to father's own account of his impeccable youth, he was always a model boy who was a gallant knight to his mother and kind and attentive to his little sisters, no matter what pests they were. At school, he was a diligent student who took all the prizes and caused the teachers no annoyance. When he went to work he was never late, never idled, but was always the industrious apprentice.

He never did anything foolish. He never got into debt or went on a wild party or drove old Dobbin out of a walk or skylarked around with the la or got into a scrape of any kind whatever.

And mother was equally beyond reproach in her youth. She also was a wonderful scholar and mother's little helper, and she always just wanted to do what mother wanted her to do and wear the clothes mother thought for her, and she never went anywhere without a chaperon, and when boys came to see her they sat on one side of the room and she sat on the other and they discussed what Mr. Brown thought he meant in certain of his poems.

Now, I ask you, how is poor John, who is always tumbling from one difficulty into another, going to tell father, who never made a mistake in his youth, about how he has overdrawn his allowance and has got into trouble over his pranks at college or has got belted up in an engagement with a girl who took his near-love-making seriously? And how is Sadie going to confide in mama, whose own youth was so austere and prim, that she thinks she is filling in love with some boy and was just thrilled when he kissed her? The answer is they can not. And so both John and Sadie miss the helpful guidance they would have had if they had had parents who did not pretend to be water aunts, but admitted to having been regular human beings and having no all the foolish things that all girls and boys do.

So perhaps, Bertie, if your mother will just come down off her high horse and confess that she used to be "sass" to her mother and that her mother disapproved of the way she did her hair and the boys who came to see her, just as your mother does about your affairs, why not might get along on a pleasant, confidential basis that would make both of you happier.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am in love with a man of thirty-seven, but I am only seventeen. He is a widower with two children. Do you think I should marry him?

Answer—Good gracious, no. A thousand times no. I cannot think of a more unsuitable match nor one that is calculated to bring more misery on more people.

To begin with, at seventeen you are too young to marry anybody. Your wits are unformed and you do not know what sort of husband you will want when you are a grown-up woman. The man you would pick out now would be no more likely to come up to your taste than would a hat that you could buy to-day. Then you have not had your playtime and about two or three years from now, when you were a dragged-out, settled-down woman with a husband and perhaps a baby on your hands, you would begin to envy boys and girls of your own age who had had sense enough to stay single and who were playing around and enjoying themselves.

Then twenty years is too much difference in age between a husband and wife unless they are both past middle age. Do a little figure. The difference between seventeen and thirty-seven may not seem so much now, but it will mean a lot when you are forty and still feeling like a debutante and he is sixty, and it will be worse still when you are fifty and he is seventy.

Besides, a man of thirty-seven has had his fling. He has seen the world and is tired of it and wants to settle down, but at seventeen you are just entering a door for a look-see at life and the whole show is still before you. You want to go out and dance and make whoops, which is perfectly right and natural for your time of life, but you will not be able to do it if you marry a man twenty years older than yourself.

Then there are the two little children to consider. Being a stepmother is one of the most difficult and arduous jobs on earth and the one that requires the most tact and patience and self-control, and no girl of seventeen is fitted to undertake it. You are nothing but a child yourself and you would not even know how to go about rearing youngsters nearly as old as yourself. So, for pity's sake, and your own sake and for the sake of the children, do not undertake a ready-made family.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man in my early twenties making an ordinary salary, and I earnestly wish to know whether it is better for me to continue my education by going away to college or to marry a girl whom I love very much. If I go to the technical school as I have planned, there will be ninety-nine chances out of a hundred that I will never see her again.

Answer—It depends on how much you love the girl and how much she cares for you. If she loves you she will be willing to wait for you. Also, I think your decision should depend upon how much you need the technical training in your business. A college degree does not necessarily spell success in any line of effort. Very often actual experience is more important than any theory taught in school.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1932

Planetary aspects rule to-day with rare science, according to astrologers. It is of the times when the world should be devoid of troubles and difficulties. The early morning hours are conducive to physical strength and a sense of general well-being. Energy and vigor are believed to be imparted to men and women while this illumination prevails.

This is a day under which amazing plans and public buildings may be pushed successfully for the stars presage a long period in American architecture will lead the way.

This is a rule under which to sign one's name to agreements presaging great enterprises. Men of might are to appear in the world of achievement, and they will be young, astrologers announce. As the new year becomes more and more recognized as a time of fulfillment in which the past is forgotten, the rising generation is to accomplish what are as much miracles as our present-day inventions would be to the people of a century ago, it is prophesied.

To-day should be auspicious for initiative, accidents, robberies and fire, but it seems to assure steady business progress that will most produce widespread prosperity.

October is to be an eventful month, astrologers forecast. The prediction warns of accidents, robberies and fire, but it seems to assure steady business progress that will most produce widespread prosperity.

Science is to be more and more applied to human affairs, it is prophesied. Business will be conducted with an exact precision that balances supply and demand, which commercial machinery is finally adjusted, the astrologers forecast.

Swamping reforms in municipal government will include the study of population in a way to prevent the increase of the physically unfit and the multiplication of public charges, astrologers forecast. This is a day in which to start toward the goal of long-cherished ambitions. It is announced. This means that women as well as men should seek their hearts' desires. Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of business advancement and increasing happiness.

Children born on this day may possess great foresight as well as extraordinary energy and intelligence. Many subjects of this sign attain success. Karl Begas, famous German sculptor, was born on this day, 1794. Another who celebrated it as a birthday was Samuel R. Cos. 1834, statesman.

COAL RAIL RATES

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The board of railway commissioners held a hearing here to-day on the costs to the railways of transporting Alberta coal to points in Ontario. The hearing, started Tuesday, was suspended temporarily in order to allow the experts of the railways and other interested parties to get together in an effort to establish a common ground of agreement in the system of assessing costs.

DIED

RUFFELL—On September 28, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, there passed away Mrs. Nellie Ruffell, wife of Mr. Ruffell, aged 72 years.

The late Mrs. Ruffell was born in England and a resident of this city for the last twenty years.

She is survived by her husband, two brothers, A. H. Ruffell, of Victoria, and E. H. Ruffell, of Los Angeles; three sisters, Mrs. J. Bremfield of this city, Mrs. H. M. Ruffell of Vancouver, and Mrs. J. Ruffell of Los Angeles.

The funeral will take place on Friday, September 30, at 2 o'clock, from the St. Mary's Cathedral, where the body will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

THELMA TODD DRAMATIC STAR

Comedienne Changes Name For Leading Role With C.
Morris in "Corsair"

Emerging after three spectacular years as a star in his own right, Chester Morris comes to the Capitol Theatre to-day in "Corsair," the Roman adaptation of the Walton Green novel of society piracy upon the high seas. Thus the action of one of the United States most prominent stage families reaches heights commensurate with those attained by his parents in another generation.

As betta a star, Chester is surrounded by four leading women in "Corsair," which is a United Artists picture. One of the four is unrecognizable by name, but fans will know her instantly when they see her upon the screen, for the first leading woman—Alison Lloyd—has been known for years as Thelma Todd. Miss Todd has changed her personality in the picture from that of a light comedienne to that of a dramatic actress, and her screen name was changed to fit the metamorphosis. The other three leading women are Mayo Melmoth, Gay Sereno and the actress McPhail, all former stage actresses.

Producer West read hundreds of plays, novels and short stories before he hit upon "Corsair" from the pen of the man who shed his information about hi-jacking while chief investigator of prohibition enforcement in Washington under General Lincoln C. Andrews. Walton Green, who was a publisher and editor, turned author after his retirement from public life, and already has to his credit scores of short stories, novels and magazine articles.

Also being shown on the same programme is Dorothy Mackall in the "Lone Affair."

DIX IN TALKIE ABOUT BANDITS

Richard Dix, star of "Cimarron," "Secret Service" and other recent romantic films, has an entirely new kind of role in "Roar of the Dragon," the dramatic story of turbulent Manchuria, coming to the Empire Theatre to-morrow.

In contrast to the rollicking, light-hearted character he usually portrays, Dix is seen as a cynical disillusioned skipper of the Chinese river-service, with little faith in men and none at all in women.

His boat, disabled by Chinese bandits, Dix and his varied group of passengers take refuge in a small interior village where they convert a former mandarin's palace into a stockade.

Here, under fire from the bandits and threatened by plague, Dix meets and falls in love with a beautiful Russian woman of mystery.

Supporting Dix is Gwilt Andre, young Canadian who creates a sensation in Hollywood even before the release of his first picture. Tall, slender, and with a striking blonde beauty, Miss Andre is a perfect foil for Dix in this spirited film.

Bill, essayed his first part of this nature at the age of seventeen—that of Louis the Fourteenth and his mad twin in "The Iron Mask." So far he is believed to be the youngest dual role player on record.

"My rise on the screen really started with that part," he says. "It created talk and brought me to the attention of producers."

Blakewell, as now twenty-three and many predict stardom for him within the next year or so.

JUDGE HAS OPERATION

Toronto, Sept. 29.—Mr. Justice William Renwick Riddell of the Ontario Appeal Court, a member of the royal commission investigating certain phases of the Ontario Hydro administration, underwent a severe operation in a hospital here yesterday. Hospital authorities this morning reported he was making "very satisfactory progress."

ROMANO THEATRE

William Blakewell, now appearing opposite Helen Twelvetees in "A Woman of Experience," at the Romano Theatre, recommends a dual role for those who would ride to fame on the screen.

It is not advisable to eat heavily before a football game. Coffee and weak tea, and limited each man to two pieces of toast. A third permits his men a small baked potato.

One of the most interesting observations made by a coach was the desirability of carrying along carboys of the water which the men were accustomed to drinking, rather than permit the men to take water in a strange town different from what they were used to, sometimes containing minerals which did not agree with the players.

The great Napoleon said that the army marched on its stomach. It is equally true that a football team depends on its feet. It is, therefore, necessary to take care promptly of every blister, of every spot of irritation that is likely to become a blister, and certainly of every bruise and infection. Bruises are best controlled by the application of heat. Infections demand medical attention. Proper medical attention involves getting rid of the in-

ELISSA LANDI AT PLAYHOUSE

An ex-husband's cruel thirst for revenge constitutes the dramatic conflict of "The Woman in Room 13." Elissa Landi's latest Fox emotional drama based on the aftermath of a divorce scandal, which opens to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

As a brilliant, capable, modern wife of to-day, Miss Landi is pictured as a woman who holds the happiness of true love above the price her scheming mate is willing to pay for acclaim and glory. This husband, portrayed by Ralph Bellamy, loses every claim upon her when he openly parades one of his many women friends before her. This, to her, is cause enough for her divorce proceedings, even though they come at a critical time in the campaign through which Bellamy hopes to become mayor. She gains her freedom, but earns the undying enmity of Bellamy. Also showing at the same time "Beauty and the Boss," starring Marion Marsh and David Manners.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The names of people of recognized great achievements crowd round "Arrowsmith," Ronald Colman's new picture which is showing at the Empire to-day.

Sinclair Lewis, author of the novel from which it was taken, is the only U.S. novelist ever awarded a Nobel Prize for literature. Sidney Howard, who adapted it to the screen, was awarded a Pulitzer Prize several years ago for his hit drama "They Knew What They Wanted." And John Ford, who directed it, is acknowledged throughout the picture world to have made one of the greatest pictures of history in "The Iron Horse" when he first came to fame.

"BACK STREET" ON SATURDAY

Fannie Hurst Novel in Movie Form, With John Boles and Irene Dunn

Fannie Hurst's most absorbing story comes to the screen to-morrow, when Universal's picturization of "Back Street" opens an engagement at the Dominion Theatre on Saturday, with Irene Dunne and John Boles in the leading roles.

This powerful and fascinating love-drama follows the romance of a girl and a man, held together by a sincere love in spite of the fact that the man is a husband and father. For twenty years, the attachment endures, ever increasing in intensity, until a tragedy brings the most extraordinary affair of its kind ever pictured into sharp focus.

Throughout her life, the woman has sacrificed everything else to the man she loved, while the man has maintained his position in the social world and remained a respected member of the community in which he lives.

The supporting cast includes June Clyde, George Meeker, William Bakewell, Arletta Duncan, Doris Lloyd, Walter Catlett and other favorites. The picture was directed by John M. Stahl.

MOVES REALTY

Four Houses, 40-Acre Farm and Suburban Tract Change Hands

In a $30,000 chain of deals put through by F. C. Rubbra of the business and city realty department of Pemberton & Son under C. E. Yearwood, four city houses have just changed hands and two blocks of acreage.

Three months ago a woman coming to live from southern Alberta bought a block of suburban acreage on the Cedar Hill Road. Deciding now to move into the city, she has acquired a house and property on Fort Street just outside the semi-business zone. The vendor of this latter property is from Devonshire, England, and has taken the Cedar Hill acreage and home of the former Alberta woman.

Similarly, a forty-acre farm at Alderbrook in the Fraser River Valley, appealed to a resident of the Oaklands district here. The owner of the farm saw and liked the Oaklands man's home. The result was Mr. Rubbra completed the deal whereby each became the owner of the other's property. A man owning a seven-room house on Princess Avenue fancied a smaller house and Mr. Rubbra found that bungalow on Granite Street would fill his requirements. The owner of the Granite Street bungalow, however, fancied a larger house and the seven-room one on Princess Avenue suited him. The result was the third consecutive deal.

George McCuish, Dominion President of Underwriters' Association, to Speak

R. George McCuish, Dominion president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada and Vancouver manager of the Canadian Life Assurance Company, will address the first fall meeting of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association in Spencer's dining room at 12 o'clock to-morrow.

The executive has arranged to have a group of classes to prepare members for the degree of Chartered Life Underwriter. These classes have been made possible through the co-operation of the Dominion body and the local managers.

Mr. McCuish's address will deal with "The Value of the Life Underwriters' Association to the Individual Members," and in view of the announcement to be made at this meeting in regard to the groups it should prove of special address.

TWO SUSTAIN MINOR INJURIES

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported to the police yesterday involving pedestrians and automobiles, but none sustained serious injuries.

Rosemary Farrar, aged ten, 1633 David Street, was struck by a car at the intersection of Pandora and David Streets, suffering shock and minor bruises.

Charles Lore June, 2126 Ridge Street, suffered a bruised leg when struck by a car at the intersection of Government and Johnson Streets yesterday evening.

M. Barrow, 508 Dallas Road, sustained minor bruises when knocked from his bicycle by an automobile at the intersection of Menzies and Belleville Streets early this afternoon. He was taken to his home.

NEWS IN BRIEF

For carrying a shotgun without a license Harold Macdonald was fined $10 and costs in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon.

House fires on Gladstone Avenue and Empress Avenue were attended by the fire department this morning, damage being slight in each case.

H. Kaynor was fined $20 in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon for driving a truck to the common danger on the Island Highway.

The annual meeting of Ward Four, Victoria Conservatives, will be held in the Campbell Building this evening at 8 o'clock. Ward Three will meet to-morrow night.

The mill of the B.C. Worsted Mills Ltd., 25 Montreal Street, was entered by burglars yesterday evening. Police investigated but discovered that nothing was missing.

The McBride Conservative Club will hold its first meeting of the fall season this evening at 8 o'clock in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street. After the business session C. L. Harrison will give an illustrated lecture.

Miss Shrapnel's "Russian Symphony," played by her pupils, will be included in the musical programme to be given in the New Thought Temple on Saturday afternoon, in connection with the World's Day for Animals.

Funds for the purpose of developing Hollywood Park will be raised by the Poul Bay Community Association through a series of card parties during the winter. It was decided at a meeting of the organization yesterday evening.

G. V. Short, general manager of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, accompanied by George Booth, arrived in the city this afternoon from Vancouver via Nanaimo and the Island Highway. They are staying at the Empress Hotel.

Withdrawal of his claim, in the County Court, for damages against the municipality of Esquimalt tendered on the grounds of personal injury sustained through a fall on one of the district's sidewalks, was announced today by George J. Cook.

The last mail trip for the summer season from Wrangell for Telegraph Creek will be made after the arrival at Wrangell of the C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, leaving Vancouver October 6. After the sailing of the Princess Norah, mail for Telegraph Creek and Dene Lake will be routed via Atlin with the usual restriction on parcel post.

St. Michael's A.P.A. held their first meeting of the new season on Thursday in the church hall with twenty-seven members present. Owing to the absence of the president, who was attending the local council meeting, the vice-president, Frank Doyle, presided. After a short business meeting, the social convener took charge. A well-planned programme of games, contests and dancing was successfully carried out. Herbert Oldfield was the winner of the "harvest" contest.

The Cowichan Agricultural Fair Association will ask for "B" grading next year, it was learned at the Parliament Buildings to-day. They will then ask to be named a regional fair for the island. This association first held an exhibition sixty-five years ago, according to A. H. Peterson, director, who is in the city to-day, and the farmers of the district feel they are entitled to greater recognition from both provincial and federal governments in the way of grants and grading.

Provincial police will take over administration of law and order in Penitentiary on October 15; it was announced by Attorney-General Pooley to-day. Penitentiary will make the twenty-fifth city to place its law enforcement in the hands of the provincial force. No one city which has contracted with the Attorney-General's department to come under British Columbia police control has reverted to the former municipal police system.

St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, will hold its harvest thanksgiving service to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Ven. Archdeacon Dewdney will be the speaker. On Sunday the thanksgiving services will be continued. Rev. E. F. Laycock, Archdeacon of Columbia, will preach at 11 o'clock and Rev. Alan Gardner at 7 o'clock. The children's service at 3 o'clock will be addressed by the rector, S. Ryal. A parish social will be held in the hall following the Friday evening service.

The Victoria Horticultural Society will hold its annual social evening and prize distribution in the Foresters' Hall, Cormorant Street, this evening at 8 o'clock. Mayor Leeming, honorary president of the society, will present to the successful competitors the prizes won in the recent garden competition. The prizes for the monthly competition which are donated through the courtesy of A. J. Watson, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, who is honorary vice-president of the society, will also be presented. Allan B. Morkill, president of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, will present a prize won by members of the local society for the best gardens on the island.

JUDGE ORDERS MAN TO JAIL

Vancouver, Sept. 29.—By order of B.C. Supreme Court, a mandamus today was directed to Sheriff W. H. Goggin of Victoria, compelling him to execute a warrant for the commitment of Henry Kilberg of Sidney to jail for ten days.

The commitment order had been made in county court here on judgment summons by Judge Ruggles, on the application of the plaintiff, E. H. McCallum, Vancouver, who held a $101 judgment against Kilberg. Subsequently, on July 15, Judge Ruggles had signed a second order, setting the first aside. Sheriff Goggin in consequence refrained from enforcing the original commitment.

H. R. Bray, counsel for McCallum, argued before Mr. Justice McDonald on the mandamus application, that Judge Ruggles's second order was ultra vires, because he had no jurisdiction to set his original order aside. Sheriff Goggin has now been ordered by Mr. Justice McDonald to enforce the first order for commitment, notwithstanding the second order vacating it.

Quitting Bee.—The ladies of Court Triumph will meet at the home of Mrs. Toye, Blanchard and Herald Streets, this evening at 7:30, to quit. All members are requested to attend.

Minister Wanted As Chairman In London

Lumbering, Fishing and Agriculture Interests to Send Representatives

Will Endeavor to Build Up More Trade in United Kingdom; Present Views

The markets extension committee of the cabinet met representatives of lumbering, fishing and agriculture to-day and discussed the preferences granted to this country at the Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa last month. Hon. Nels Lougheed, Minister of Lands, is chairman of the committee.

The meeting decided to recommend to the cabinet that the provincial government send a cabinet minister to London to act as chairman of a delegation being sent there by the three industries named above.

During the conference several speakers touched on the question of continuity of supply for the British market.

T. J. Smith, secretary of the R.O.P. Poultry Association, described the difficulties encountered in developing production for the export market, while J. Hunter, an independent poultryman, who is leaving for Great Britain shortly to investigate market prospects, contended that continuity of supply was not guaranteed and that B.C. egg men were merely dumping their surplus into the Old Country.

It was stated the egg pool recently sent several tons of egg melange to the United Kingdom as a trial shipment and that the quality was favorably reported on. The pool hopes to be able to meet competition from abroad in marketing this product.

Harry Beach, representing the fruit canners, stated that prices for berry pulps in Great Britain had almost doubled since last year and that this province was unable to supply the demand.

E. J. Chambers of Vernon, representing the Associated Fruit Growers, reported on the Economic Conference and expressed the satisfaction of Okanagan apple growers with results achieved at the conference in regard to fruit.

B.C. poultry and fruit men were advised to trust to the honesty of the British importer and consignee and shipments instead of "c.i.f." This would facilitate sales, it was stated. Lack of banking accommodation forced producers of this province to adopt the "c.i.f." method of marketing, which was not in their best interests, it was stated.

T. M. Wilkinson, secretary of the B.C. Chamber of Single Manufacturers' Association, represented the lumbering interests at the meeting.

NEW MAN IS IN OPERATION

Thirty-inch Pipe Goes Into Service; Cut-over Nearly Finished

Water flowed through the city's new thirty-inch cross-connection main yesterday for the first time, giving service as the first step in the cut-over was completed.

To-day work gangs were completing the welding of joints at the ends of the valve in the thirty-six-inch Spoke main at George Road and David Streets, and City Engineer F. M. Preston said the full service probably would be in operation this afternoon.

Men worked throughout the night on the cut-over job, rushing it to completion. Since the first hitch in the electrical pump apparatus no trouble has been experienced and the only effect on the service generally was a slight lowering of pressure.

For a few days when the service is resumed there may be a slight discoloration of water in some areas; especially Saanich, but officials of the Saanich waterworks department this morning issued a request to residents not to make complaints as this is unavoidable and every effort will be made to clean the mains by flushing. The water will be normal in color by the end of the week in that district it is expected.

PRIZES GIVEN AT MT. VIEW

Medals, Cups and Certificates Presented Saanich Students Yesterday Afternoon

Presentation of prizes won last year by pupils attending Saanich schools took place yesterday afternoon at the Mount View High School, in the presence of a large audience of parents and friends. W. Garner, principal of the school, was chairman and the proceedings were attended by members of the school board and the municipal inspector, J. M. Paterson.

The gold medal annually donated by Premier Tomin to the youngest pupil to pass into high school was won by Everett Wardman of McKennie Avenue School and was presented by Trustee Hobbs.

Members of the board distributed the entrance certificates and the diplomas for shorthand. Pins were presented to Inspector Robert L. Holden, Helen Colton, Mitchell Ott and Geoffrey Page.

Awards were also presented graduates of the commercial classes and the winners of junior business diplomas of the Department of Education. Inter-high school championship cups were presented to Barbara Dawson, senior winner, Thelma Leblond, intermediate, and Vera Knowles, novice.

Silver cups won in the school sports last June were presented to Noel Morgan, senior boy champion; Mitchell Ott, intermediate champion; Vernon Tupman, junior champion; Jean Dempsey, senior girls champion; Jenny Parulek, intermediate champion; and Barbara Beaumont, junior champion.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

JOHN GALT

JOHN GALT

John Galt, director of the old Union Bank of Canada, is celebrating his birthday to-day. Mr. Galt, who was born at Montreal in 1856, is the son of the late Sir A. T. Galt. He received his education at the Montreal High School, Dr. Barron's School at Rice Lake and under a private tutor at Gotha, Germany. In 1890 he married his father's secretary, three years after the death of his first wife. He was for five years in the employ of the Bank of Montreal and in 1892 removed to Winnipeg where he started with his cousin in the wholesale grocery business. He was a director of the Canadian Fire Insurance Company and the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company for a number of years. Mr. Galt has lived in Victoria for a long time and resides at 1320 Rockland Avenue.

MARRIED MAN IS OBJECTED TO

Immigration Officials Claim He Is Also Illiterate and Order Deportation

On the grounds that he was illiterate and a married man, immigration officials here have arrested Shmr Singh and are holding him for deportation to his native India.

R. C. Lowe, as counsel for Shmr Singh, took action before Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court here to-day to block the deportation.

Mr. Lowe explained that Shmr is the son of a prominent member of the Indian colony, who has been here for some time, but a clause in the Immigration Act which can be invoked against married men from India has been called upon by the officials in this case. He said the officials also claimed to hold Shmr under the clause against the admission of illiterate persons into Canada and those who do not come from their native land by continuous voyage.

Lindley Crease, K.C., is conducting the defence for the Department of Immigration. Mr. Justice Murphy set next Wednesday for the legal argument.

AGED RESIDENT DIES

William Tyler of 2118 Douglas Street passed away yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital, aged seventy-five years. He was born in England and leaves no relatives here. Funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. deB. Owen officiating.

LAST RITES FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ann Muldoon, who passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held to-morrow at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

JONES RELIES UPON BENNETT

Federal Assumption of Half of All Relief Expected By Finance Minister

Maximum of $4,500,000 Factor in Winter Programme, Municipal Union Told

"Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, yesterday afternoon led his associates on the government's unemployment relief committee in a policy of saying nothing to us," members of the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities stated yesterday, after interviewing Mr. Jones, Hon. S. L. Howe and Hon. W. A. McKenzie at the Parliament Buildings.

"We were talking to a man who has his mind made up. Mr. Jones is the backbone of the unemployment committee of this Cabinet. We were up against an obvious policy of telling nothing regarding what they proposed to do," delegates explained after more than three hours of discussion with the government's committee.

The union executive scored one success by inducing the government to cancel its circular regarding the status of property-owning persons seeking relief. A revised draft, submitted to the union, will probably be accepted as the basis of a new circular governing the status of destitute property owners in municipalities. The objective of the government was stated to be to release transient lists from such persons.

Mr. Jones this morning stated he informed the union executive yesterday that around $4,500,000 would have to be the total cost of unemployment relief in British Columbia for the remainder of the fiscal year. He had based this estimate upon the fact that the provincial treasury could only supply $1,500,000 as its proportion of the expenditures to be made in municipalities and unorganized territories.

RELIES UPON BENNETT

The gross total of $4,500,000 was based, in part, upon expectation that Premier Bennett would be able to secure from the western provinces a federal contribution of one-half the total cost of relief. At present the Dominion pays one-half the sums expended on relief in unorganized districts and for transients. The larger grant if given would assist the relief campaign in municipalities, where at present the province and the local authorities each pay one-third of the cost.

Mr. Jones said Premier Bennett had stated at Calgary, definite amounts which the Dominion would make available for each of the western provinces. Mr. Jones did not wish to announce the amount of the contribution to British Columbia. He explained he had already been spending from that sum and inferred that announcement of the gross total would be misleading at the present time.

NO BORROWING

The union delegation urged the advisability of borrowing from the federal treasury a substantial sum for relief purposes, under the authority of emergency legislation passed by the House of Commons last summer. Mr. Jones discouraged such a course, believing it would not prove necessary if stringent economy was practiced. He insisted upon the urgent necessity of close scrutiny by municipalities of all applications they receive for relief.

Mr. Jones announced cancellation of the government's tentative proposal to establish a rigid relief basis of $15 monthly for two persons, with an added $2.50 for each child, instead a system of allocating specific sums to each municipality was under preparation. The delegates then urged that no such appropriation be finally struck until the matter had been studied by the board of control proposed to be set up to administer relief throughout the province.

In this connection the union executive announced its intention to support the nomination of Reeves Crouch of Saanich for the post of municipal supervisor of relief. The appointment had first been recommended some days ago by Coast members of the union executive.

Unique Managerial Situation in Present World Series

McCarthy, Pilot of Yankees, Was at Cubs' Helm for Five Years

Series With Hornsby Leading Cubs Would Have Been Interesting

THE MANAGERIAL situation for the present New York Yankees-Chicago Cubs world series is unique in baseball history. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, was for five years the leader of the Chicago Cubs and knows the strength and weaknesses of the majority of the opposition's players almost as well as he knows those of his own team. Charlie Grimm, playing manager of the Cubs, was elevated to his role less than two months ago, and from 1926 to 1929 he was field captain under the manager he now opposes in the world series. Grimm is the first manager to take over a team in August and pilot it to a pennant, and McCarthy is the first manager to win pennants in both major leagues.

It would be a much better story if president William Veeh had not fired Rogers Hornsby as manager of the Cubs on the night of August 5 in Philadelphia. If Hornsby had held his job and piloted the Cubs to the pennant the world series would have brought together two bitter enemies at the helm of both contending teams. But then if Veeh had not dismissed Hornsby there might not have been any world series in Chicago.

Instead of a grudge battle between McCarthy and Hornsby, the managerial rivalry is between two old-fashioned friends. Under McCarthy's regime at Chicago Grimm was one of his most loyal players. Because of his bitter disappointment in the 1929 world series McCarthy is doubly anxious to pilot the Yankees to the championship. It was the tragic collapse of the Cubs in that series with the Philadelphia Athletics which eventually led to McCarthy's dismissal by the late William Veeh, Jr.

McCarthy has proved himself a great manager during his seven years in the majors. He took the Cubs over in 1926 after they had finished last in the previous season, and piloted them to fourth place in the inner works of the present team. He has never had a team finish out of the first division.

McCarthy's greatest talent is perhaps as a developer of pitchers. He brought out Bush, Root and Malone when he was with the Cubs. In his two years with the Yankees he has converted Gomez and Allen into two of the finest young pitchers in the game.

If McCarthy knows all about the Cubs, Grimm has a right-hand man who knows all about the Yankees. He is Charlie O'Leary, nine years a Yankee coach, who moved to the Cubs when McCarthy went to the Yankees. He knows where to pitch to Gehrig, Lazzeri, Dickey, etc., and where not to pitch to them.

Grimm's remarkable success in his brief managerial experience is largely the result of his popularity with his players. When he succeeded Hornsby he merely went about his duties as if he were still field captain. He probably has had more success with less effort than any manager who ever handled a championship team.

Brief sketches of the two managers follow:

McCarthy—Born Germantown, Pa., April 9, 1886. Played infield but never in majors. Became manager of Louisville, 1919, where he was when the Cubs hired him. When the Cubs dropped him in 1930 he was hired to succeed Bob Shriver as manager of the Yankees in 1931.

Grimm—Born St. Louis, 1889, signed with Athletics when he was seventeen. Broke in with Pirates in 1916 and came to Cubs in 1924. For ten years rated as one of the finest fielders in the game. Made manager of the Cubs August 2.

Local Coast Loop Officials Take Up Battle In Earnest

A return salvo in the heated controversy between the newly-organized Victoria division of the Pacific Coast Football Association and the British Columbia Football Association was fired by the former, following their meeting yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The announcement took the form of a reply to the recent statement issued by the B.C.F.A. to the effect that five Victorians, former members of the Lower Island Football Association, had been suspended for joining up with the Coast League.

MACK SELLS THREE STARS

Simmons, Haas and Dykes Sold to Chicago Sox by Philadelphia Athletics

May Mean Breaking Up of Famous Machine; $150,000 Figured in Deal

New York, Sept. 29.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, yesterday evening announced the sale of outfielders Al Simmons and Mule Haas, and infielder Jimmy Dykes, to the Chicago White Sox, for an announced amount of cash. Mack declined to comment on the deal, one of the most sensational in recent years, and declined to say whether the deal presages a break-up of the Athletics machine which galloped to three successive American League championships from 1929 through 1931, but which was disbanded by the New York Yankees this year.

NO MONEY MENTIONED
Neither would Mack give any indication of how much cash the White Sox had laid on the line. Baseball observers figure, however, that at least $150,000 must have changed hands.

Biggest individual sale price in the American League history was the $135,000 the Yankees gave the Boston Red Sox for Babe Ruth. Simmons, principal figure in the amazing deal, twice won the American League batting championship, in 1930 and 1931, and has a nine-year major league batting average of well over .300. He fell off in his hitting this season, yet compiled the creditable average of around .225, collecting about 220 hits and driving in about 150 runs.

HAAS HANDYMAN
Haas held down centre field most of the current season, and hit above .300. Dykes has been the official handyman of the Athletics infield, playing every position in the inner works at one time or another during his fifteen-year major league career, all of it spent in Philadelphia.

CHAVEZ HOPING FOR KNOCKOUT

Oklahoma Heavyweight Confident of Whipping Lomski Here Saturday Night

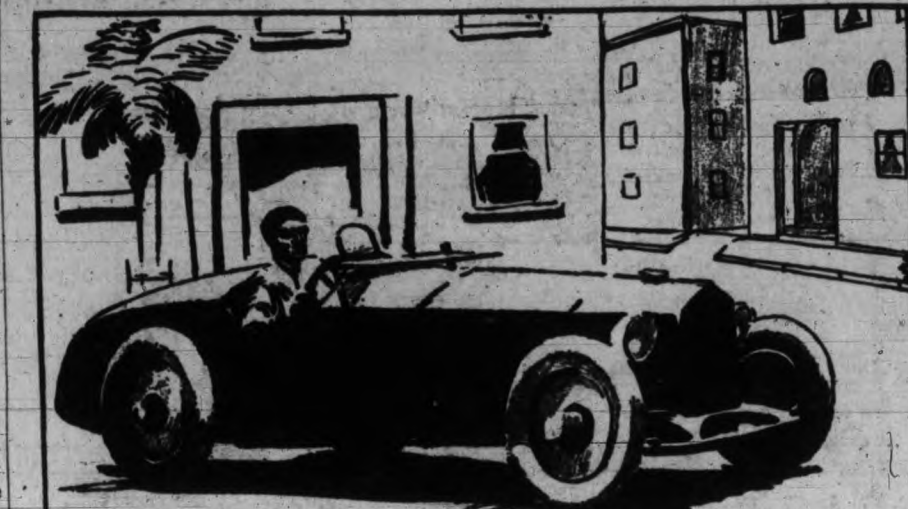

Ben Shaves, the Oklahoma Indian boxer, who is heavyweight champion of the U.S. marine corps, insists that he wishes to change his ring name, and declares that from now on he wants to box under his own name, which is Dan Chavez. This is the word that came from Seattle, to-day, where Chavez is in strict training for his match with Leo Lomski at the Pacific Stadium arena, Saturday night.

"I am convinced that I am going to knock Lomski out and for this reason I wish to from now on use my correct name. My parents in Oklahoma prefer it, too," said the swarthy Oklahoman. Red Tingley, the big fellow who is to engage Denny Lenhart in the other half of the boxing card, is said to be in fine shape and ready to go. Bobby Nelson, the other invading boxer, a 160-pounder, is said to be a good boy. Dan Chavez, Red Tingley and Bobby Nelson will arrive in Victoria with their trainer to-morrow morning and will be seen in a public workout. Much interest centres in the Saturday night boxing show. It is perhaps the biggest thing in a little while held in this city in many months.

Lomski worked out before a crowd of about 400 yesterday evening and he will be seen in action again to-night at 8 o'clock. The public is admitted free to the work-out.

M. Ancell, who retired as president after serving for two years, it was decided to remit the entrance fee to any new members applying before October 22. The age for juniors was temporarily raised to seventeen years. Play will commence on October 5.

MRS. A. GEDDES NEW CAPTAIN

Succeeds Mrs. H. H. Livsey at Macaulay Point Golf Club; Annual Meeting Held

Mrs. Alec Geddes was elected women's captain of the Macaulay Point Golf Club at the ninth annual meeting of the women members in the clubhouse yesterday evening. She succeeds Mrs. H. H. Livsey, who has held the position since last autumn.

Discussion on whether or not the club should affiliate with the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union was led by Mrs. Livsey, the chairman, and Mrs. Geddes was appointed to give further attention to the matter. It was decided to start the Dunlop Cup competition next week. All members not at the meeting who wish to enter the competition are asked to put their names on the bulletin board at the club or phone Mrs. Geddes at Garden 6122.

No ladder competition will be conducted this year, the members decided. After some discussion, it was agreed to play under the same rules as the men during the coming year.

With Cubs Enjoying Two-run Lead Yesterday, Home Run Twins Break Up Party

Gehrig's Home Run Smashed Confidence of Pitcher Bush and His Teammates

New York, Sept. 29.—Thanks to an old-established act, as dependable for drama, thrills and triumph of virtue as was "East Lynne" back in the gas-lit days, the New York Yankees were booming again along the victory trail to-day, possessors of their ninth straight world series triumph.

Just when the skies were darkest in more ways than one, when it seemed as though Guy Bush was well on the way to breaking up an act that flourished through the post-season championship struggles of 1926, 1927 and 1928, the team of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig rose in their might, smote the transgressor, and shattered the morale of the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the world series.

At the end of a stormy day, next to the poorest in the matter of attendance a Yankee world series ever has known, a day that started in a rainstorm and ended in glittering sunshine, the score stood 12 to 6 in favor of the American League champions. But the final score told nothing of the gaudy return to world series play of the heroes of 1927 and 1928, when the Yankees won two world titles from the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals in eight successive games.

RUTH COMES THROUGH
It was Ruth, just recovered from a mild attack of appendicitis, who marched to the plate in the fourth inning with the Cubs leading 2 to 0, and Earle Combs, the first Yankee runner, hit a home run, the first Yankee home run since 1927.

The Babe smashed a lone single to right and the grey-haired Kentucky colonel raced home. Lou Gehrig tramped to the plate. The count reached three and two. He laid into the deciding pitch, a "screw" ball on the outside corner, and belted it far on a line into the deep reaches of the right-field stands. The Yankees led 3 to 2, and the game might just as well have ended there.

That home run smash unsettled Bush, kingpin of the Cub curvers, and shattered the morale of a team that had pranced into battle, cocky and confident, to grab a quick two-run lead off Burley Buffing, best of the Yankee right-hand pitchers.

LOSERS HIS CONTROL
Bush lost his control and his stuff. His mates faltered behind him and the game wore on to its inevitable conclusion, a dreary, pointless sort of duel, like two friends boxing for the fun of it. Ruth and Gehrig, their work done, faded into the background of the general scramble.

NANAIMO WILL BOLSTER TEAM

Secure Dagger and Conti to Strengthen Their Coast League Football Club

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, Sept. 29.—The Nanaimo soccer club is strengthening up its team after its one-sided defeat on Saturday at the hands of Vancouver St. Andrews. Dagger, well-known Sapperton full back, and considered one of the best in the province, will partner Edmunds at full back. Edmunds being moved over to the left position where he is more at home. It is also reported that "Zacci" Conti, former Cumberland star halfback, will be seen in action on Sunday for Nanaimo. Conti is a tower of strength in this position and his inclusion should greatly improve the local defence and fill the gap caused by the loss of Kulai, who recently signed for St. Andrews.

Nanaimo will meet Westminster Royals here on Sunday in a Pacific Coast League game. Starting pitchers for to-day, Vernon Gomez, crack young southpaw, was McCarthy's choice, and Lou Warneke, the sensational youngster of the Cub staff, the hope of Charlie Grimm to even the series before the two teams leave to-night to resume the battle in three straight games starting on the Chicago front Saturday.

Ada MacKenzie in Brilliant Round to Gain Quarter-finals in National Play

Mrs. Charles Eddis Loses to Mrs. Vane; Enid Wilson in One-sided Victory

Feenbody, Mass., Sept. 29.—Masterful shot-making by Ada MacKenzie, Toronto veteran of the golfing war, advanced her a step further yesterday along the trail towards the United States women's championship. Par after par flowed from her clubs as she played Jesse Hagstrom, Wipacaka III, and when the battle ended what the many times Canadian champion a 6 to 5 victor, her card read a single stroke over perfect figures.

The only other Canadian to compete for the 1932 title, Mrs. Charles Eddis, fellow townsman of the great Ada, found herself against Mrs. Glenna Colett Vane, and was knocked from the championship array. The runner-up last week for the Canadian crown could not match the stroking of her famous opponent, who has been American champion five times, and took a 7 to 5 defeat.

CONVINCING WIN
But another Britisher, Enid Wilson, the most feared player in the field, continued her long-driving from the fairway and advanced into the eighth with an 8 to 7 verdict over Grace English.

The fourth favored one to march into the next round was Maureen O'Connell, Haworth, N.J., who let her two-hole Canadian crown go underfended this year. The broad-shouldered Maureen stayed in the fight by defeating Mrs. Leo Federman, Lakewood, Pa., for nine holes before putting a surge that gave her four of the first six inward holes and a 4 and 3 victory.

Charlotte Gutting, Short Hills, N.J., a powerful hitter and about the best player in the tournament, played through most of the downpour while defeating Bernice Wall, Oakbrook, Wis., 3 and 2.

Seattle Tennis Star Loses to De Stefani in Pacific Coast Championships

Prusoff Succeeds in Taking Second Set; Perry and Austin Both Victors

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Led by Fred Perry, England, and Jiro Satoh, Japanese ace, favorites stroked through third round matches yesterday in the men's singles division of the Pacific Coast tennis championships.

Perry entered the quarter finals with a 6-1, 3-6, 6-4 win over Ed Levy, San Francisco, while his leading rival, Satoh, conquered the former Spanish Davis Cup player, Manuel Alonso, 6-1, 6-3.

Henry "Bunny" Austin, teammate of Perry, took an 8-6, 6-2 third-round match from John Murio, San Francisco.

PRUSOFF BEATEN
The Italian Davis Cup entry, Giorgio Prusoff, captured a string of three set matches from Henry Prusoff, Seattle, state titleholder of Washington and Oregon, by scores of 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Bryan Brant, Atlanta, Ga., moved into the quarter-finals along with Gerald Stratford, San Francisco, and Lester Stoenen, Los Angeles. Grant took the measure of Joe Coughlin, San Francisco, 6-4, 8-7; Stratford defeated Kuwabara, Japan, 10-8, 8-7, 6-2, and Stoenen won from Donald Budge, Berkeley, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The men's doubles listed a second-round upset, when the British team of Perry and Austin went down before the superior play of Bryan Brant and George Green, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-8, 6-3.

It is also reported that "Zacci" Conti, former Cumberland star halfback, will be seen in action on Sunday for Nanaimo. Princess Pats Athlete Gains Individual Aggregate Cup in Big Meet

Stan Douglas Scores Outstanding Victory in Smart Mile Run

High aggregate honors in the first big army track and field meet staged here since the war went to Private Theodore Christainsen, of the Princess Pats, at Work Point Barracks yesterday. He took first honors in a smart quarter-mile run, second in the hundred, third in the mile and fourth in the furlong to outpoint his closest rivals, Edwards and Cook, also of the Pats, who finished tied for second place with ten points apiece.

The victory of Stan Douglas, Pats, in the mile furnished one of the features of the meet. Trailing for the majority of the distance, Douglas finished hard to win in well ahead of the field in the hard run. Pocock was second and Christainsen third.

Cook showed the way in the hundred yards dash, breaking fast and flashing in just ahead of Murray. Murray forced Christainsen all the way in the quarter-mile, but the winner of the aggregate cup managed to keep in front to the tape. Polinsky was a good third. Murray was also second in the two-hundred yard dash, with Cook third.

SCORED DOUBLE WIN
Edwards also captured the broad jump to score a double victory in the meet. In the tug-of-war, the Artillery captured first honors with two pulls out of three. They took the first pull, lost the second to the Army Service Corps and came in last in the third and deciding pull to take the event.

By virtue of his victory in the mile Douglas captured the special challenge trophy donated by the sergeant's mess. Approximately 500 saw the race which was judged a great success by all present. Flag honors were given all victors, who had the distinguishing colors of their units raised following their events.

Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown presents prizes to the winners at the conclusion of the meet. The selections of the Fifth Regiment Band added greatly to the attractiveness of the meet.

RESULTS
Results of the feature events follow: Broad jump—1, Edwards (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Cook (P.F.C.L.I.); 3, Jostman (R.C.E.).

220 yards—1, Edwards (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Murray (R.C.A.); 3, Cook (P.F.C.L.I.). Shot put—1, Featherstone (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Wingert (R.C.A.); 3, Galt (P.F.C.L.I.).

Old soldiers' race—1, Sergeant Grimes; 2, Colonel Greer; 3, Sergeant Pocock.

One mile—1, Stan Douglas (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Pocock (P.F.C.L.I.); 3, Christainsen (P.F.C.L.I.).

Hammer throw—1, Giesendening (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Turner (P.F.C.L.I.); 3, Featherstone (P.F.C.L.I.).

High jump—1, H. Richard (R.C.E.); 2, Donaldson (P.F.C.L.I.); 3, Featherstone (P.F.C.L.I.).

150 yards—1, Cook (P.F.C.L.I.); 2, Christainsen (P.F.C.L.I.); 3, Murray (R.C.A.).

Throwing cricket ball—1, S. Bichar (R.C.A.M.C.); 2, Murray (R.C.A.); 3, Featherstone (P.F.C.L.I.).

Relay race—P.F.C.L.I. (Christainsen, Edwards, Cook and Polinsky).

Somerville Given Monster Reception
London, Ont., Sept. 29.—C. R. "Sandy" Somerville, winner of the United States amateur golf championship, came out modestly to be honored with the most colorful civic reception ever accorded anybody in this city yesterday evening.

Tecumseh Park was "packed" for the reception. A crowd estimated at from 10,000 to 12,000 filled every seat.

Firdaussi Winner Of English Stake
Newmarket, Eng., Sept. 29.—T. A. Khan, Indian potentate, won today's success on the English turf to-day when Firdaussi, son of the famous Pharo, won the jockey club stakes over one and three-quarter miles.

Firdaussi finished the long journey a neck in front of H. J. Simms, Gainslaw. J. A. Dewar's Cameroun, one-time English winner, was in the field of seven, a length back of the two leaders.

R. W. MacKenzie Is Gold Medal Winner
Calgary Captures Lacrosse Honor
Calgary, Sept. 29.—Reversing the defeat a week ago with a vengeance Calgary Shamrocks yesterday evening defeated Edmonton, Alberta, 5-3, to win the Alberta box lacrosse championship.

On the short end of a 4 to 3 score as a result of the first game in Edmonton, Shamrocks went out on scoring legs and won the two-game total-goal series, 18 to 4. The Shamrocks were an entirely different squad of stick handlers in yesterday evening's battle, and had things their own way from the start. The half-time score was 7 to 0.

Experience Costs Victoria Gridders Greening Game

Defeated 32 to 12 By New Westminster Under Floodlights

Victoria Club Puts Up Keen Fight But Fumbles Prove Costly; New Westminster Led 13 to 0 at Interval; McInnes and Lynn Patrick Score Touchdowns for Victoria; Frank Gribble Stars With Brilliant Kicking; Pete Staggs Badly Injured

Vancouver, Sept. 29.—A hard-tackling, line-smashing squad of gridders from New Westminster served notice yesterday evening that they will be a stubborn obstacle for other teams in the race for the 1932 senior provincial rugby football title by smothering Victoria 32 to 12 in a big four Canadian rugby game.

A powerful line that made holes almost at will in its opponents' defence, and a backfield that worked fast and smoothly, gave the Royal City team their victory over the lighter Island team, which, but for numerous fumbles, would have given a much better account of themselves.

The Victorians always adept in the forward-passing game, worked an aerial attack that had the Westminster team groggy when it worked, but unfortunately for the visitors, who appeared unfamiliar under the floodlights, costly fumbles marred their work.

GRIBBLE STARS

Big Frank Gribble, smooth-kicking half-back for Victoria, was a tower of strength to his team. His long kicking relieved pressure several times and he was getting much more distance than the opposing New Westminster back. He consistently booted the pigskin for fifty and sixty yards. Chris Usher, at left tackle, gave an outstanding performance for the Island team. He used his head and was continually crashing through the New Westminster line.

Of the seven touchdowns scored during the evening all were converted. The game witnessed the first serious accident of the season when Pete Staggs, who turned in a sterling game for the Royal City, received a bad head injury in the final quarter, but was rushed to the hospital.

Westminster was off to an early lead when Staggs of baseball fame scored on a left-end run when the game was just four minutes old. The next score came when Westminster recovered after a Victoria fumble on the Islanders' ten-yard line. A plunge through left tackle put Bennett over the line for the second touchdown. Both were converted.

ROYALS LEAD 13 TO 0

After Victoria had marched up the field in the second quarter another fumble lost them their chance to score and Rich isolated this time from MacMillan and the half ended 13 to 0 for Westminster.

Gribble and Lynn Patrick combined in the third period for what looked like a sure score, but Lynn, who received the pass, had it knocked out of his hands while sleep-stepping a tackler. A few minutes later, however, Lynn took another pass this time from MacMillan, and romped thirty-five yards for the visitors' first score.

Near the end of the period Rich added to Westminster's score when he went over for a major score. But Victoria came right back with one when McInnes snaked a fifteen-yard pass from Gribble and kicked thirty-five yards to cross the goal line.

Westminster scored two more touchdowns late in the final period, Rich plunging eight yards for his second, and just one minute before time Callahan took MacDonald's pass for the final score of the game.

This McClary will burn every pound of it...

Is yours a temperamental furnace that burns only a certain grade of coal? Then this is news. The McClary Sunshine will burn any kind of coal you buy for it. And will continue to do so through a lifetime—through good years and bad. The Venti-Blast Ring, responsible for this remarkable performance, is but one of many important features. Others—low operating costs, healthy heat, cleanliness, sturdy construction—even automatic humidification if you wish. Let your McClary dealer show you how the Venti-Blast Ring literally feeds fire to fire—and saves you on fuel costs.

LOCAL MEN IN MAINLAND SHOOT

Detectives T. H. Bamford, Walter Calwell and William Stark, leading revolver shots of the Victoria Police Department, took part in competitions of the B.C. Police Revolver Association's annual tournament on the mainland Tuesday.

The shoot was held at R.C.M.P. barracks at Point Grey. While the local squad did not carry off any prizes they registered fair scores under the conditions.

Members of the local department have displayed an exceptionally keen interest in revolver shooting this year, due mainly to the activity of Chief Heatley in promoting a spirit of competition. The Victoria shoot had one of the largest entry lists in years and every effort is being made by the chief to have all officers expert with guns.

There will be a parade of all N.C.O.'s, First Battalion (Sixteenth C.E.F.), the Canadian Scottish Regiment, on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, at the Armories. Dress: Drill order.

TWO PROVINCES SENDING PARTIES

Alberta and Saskatchewan Participating in Communal Colony at Sooke

Canadian Press
Calgary, Sept. 29.—Final plans for establishment of a communal colony at Sooke, Vancouver Island, by the Canadian Young People's Co-operative Society of Alberta and Saskatchewan, concludes a year of study of the proposal by several groups of young people in the two prairie provinces. The society has no members in Calgary, but has small groups of ten or twelve members scattered throughout the province. The group at Jasper, Alta., has the largest membership, in the neighborhood of thirty young men and women.

KIDD REPLIES TO REPORT CRITICS

Some of the comments that had appeared in the local press might lead one to believe his presence in Victoria might be attended with some danger. Mr. Kidd remarked in opening. However, he commented, one of the members of the committee, Mr. Mayhew, appeared to live quite happily in Victoria.

UNBALANCED BUDGETS
The speaker briefly touched upon his own position to claim he could not be accused at any time of requesting the government of British Columbia to be extravagant. With other taxpayers he had been concerned over unbalanced budgets over a period of twenty years with three trifling exceptions. Many books had been written on the subject, but he could see only one way to face an unbalanced budget, and that was by increasing the revenue or reducing expenditure. He doubted if any books of political economy had anything more profound to offer than Wilkins Micawber offered in "David Copperfield."—"Income, on hundred pounds, expenses one hundred pounds and sixpence, result misery; income one hundred pounds, expenses ninety-nine pounds nineteen and six, result happiness," was Micawber's theory.

Mr. Kidd quoted figures from the report of the debt of British Columbia and the government's reply. "The government takes great credit for the fact that it has accumulated a sinking fund of $70,000,000," he said. "But what is the use of building a sinking fund on borrowed money?" he asked. "Why build a sinking fund of $70,000,000 and have a deficiency of $50,000,000?"

76 Gives More Anti-Knock Energy And a Quick Start on Cold Days

INSTALL start on raw, damp mornings—without loss of mileage—is now an added advantage of New Union 76 Gasoline.

You'll enjoy the same full mileage as in summer driving—and extra smoothness, finer anti-knock energy, exhilarating power—every quality in a gasoline which makes autumn motoring more fun, and more economical.

76 combines quick starting with full mileage, because it is especially blended by Union engineers for winter driving.

With an almost limitless supply of crude oils from Union's own wells, the specific crudes for perfect winter blending are always available for Union 76 Gasoline. That's why you can depend on 76 to be uniform—always quicker starting—without loss of mileage.

Lieutenant-Governor resided, had come the greatest criticism of the report's recommendations that he should be given a wide measure of control of the government's expenditures. Pointing out the Lieutenant-Governor was the representative of the King, he quoted authorities to prove his contention the King had the right to warn and question the wisdom or any acts of the government.

"Are our ministers so sensitive they resent the suggestion they should be warned by the Lieutenant-Governor? The record of the last twenty years shows that some useful purpose might have been served had they been so warned. Apparently it is the wish of Victoria that he should not step outside of those ceremonial which seem to be the main function of the office," said Mr. Kidd.

"If he is to be nothing but the ceremonial opener of tea parties, the sooner we get rid of him the better," said the speaker, expressing surprise that the criticism of the report's recommendations to give him greater power to exercise a measure of control over expenditures should mainly come from Victoria.

PATRONAGE
Regarding the report's recommendations the number of members in the Legislature should be cut to twenty-eight, Mr. Kidd remarked it was made not mainly on the grounds of the economy that would be effected, but because they believed the party system of government was the greatest evil from which the province suffered to-day, and the greater number of members the greater scope for patronage and other evils of government that went with the party system.

The reasons for the committee's recommendations of reducing the cabinet from eleven to five were touched upon. Although many were appointed through political associations there were many capable civil servants who could attend to the detail and routine of government business while the ministers were left free to attend to matters of policy.

"GLORIFIED CASHIERS"
The Minister of Finance had been short of a lot of the power he should have, the speaker claimed. J. H. Beatty, VVice-Chief Minister in the Legislature, he commented, had described the Minister of Finance as nothing more than a "glorified cashier." Mr. Kidd recalled the warnings of Hon. W. C. Shelly when he was Minister of Finance regarding trust funds being used for other purposes and the cost of government agencies and other services. The speaker had no doubt when Mr. Shelly sought to effect changes he found himself faced with trouble and political exigencies which tied his hands and eventually forced him to leave the cabinet.

Mr. Kidd failed to see why British Columbia could not do as other provinces had done regarding abandoning the provincial police force and substituting the Canadian Mounted Police except in the case of the larger cities of Vancouver and Victoria, where police had to see municipal by-laws were enforced.

NOT SEEKING VOTES
"We were told we should not have touched upon education because we would be very unpopular," the speaker proceeded. "It is an important subject, and we were not bidding for popularity. We are not seeking votes."

British Columbia after the war and in time of prosperity had stepped ahead considerably in the matter of social services. The financial position of the province forced serious consideration as to how far this could continue. Mr. Kidd referred to the report's recommendations that free education should cease at the age of fourteen years.

"The fact must be faced British Columbia is still more or less on the iron-tier. The cost of education is being met on borrowed money, and it is time to consider whether free education should not be a matter of the three R's," said Mr. Kidd.

Briefly replying to recent criticism by Professor Weir and Professor Angus of the University of British Columbia, on recommendations of the report, Mr. Kidd said he would like to ask those men how many students from the University of British Columbia and British Columbia high schools remained in the province and how many went south.

"I question," said Mr. Kidd, "whether the nature of the education they receive in those institutions really fits them for the life they are called upon to lead in British Columbia."

Professor Weir describes the report as one of capitalistic parvenus. I don't know what particular kind of parvenus that is or what particular brand of economy the professor teaches. I presume he refers to Mr. Mayhew and myself," commented the speaker. "The professor is evidently opposed to capitalism. If the funds to carry on do not come from the capitalist where do they come from?"

Professor Angus said, line up the needs for different services and their tax accordingly—quadruple the income tax, the speaker remarked.

"These are wild, illusory, vague ideas taken from books," said Mr. Kidd. "They have no practical experience."

Coming next to the problem of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the speaker quoted from the report compiled for the government by J. G. Sullivan in 1922, in which he said the P.G.E. could not be made revenue producing and that as far as development of the Peace River was concerned that was a matter that should be handled by the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. and not the provincial government.

Concluding, the speaker said it was time the people of British Columbia took an honest interest in the affairs of the province. When they did that acting without partisanship and prejudice; not looking to their own interest but to the good of the province as a whole, they would be taking an important step towards bringing about the return of prosperity.

In introducing the speaker, Mr. Ke explained the circumstances leading up to the appointment of the commission in view of the important and interesting information contained in the Kidd report, he said, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, believing it was performing a public service, arranged for Mr. Kidd to be heard in Victoria.

Mr. Ke extended thanks to Mr. Kidd at the conclusion of his address.

Yankees Score Second Straight Victory

DEADLOCK SCORE

The Cubs fought back to deadlock the scores in the third. With two men away, Stephenson poked a double to right field and scored on Demaree's single.

A bit of strategy on the part of the Cubs failed to halt the Yankees in their half of the inning, and they scored twice. With Ruth and Gehrig on third and second, respectively, and two away, Warnke walked Dickey put, posing, filling the bases. However, Chapman, came through with a timely crash to right field, scoring the Babe and Gehrig.

The Yankees continued their assault on Warnke in the fifth and another run drifted across the plate. Gehrig unhooked his third straight single. Lazzari grounded to Herman, Gehrig reaching second on the throw, scoring on Dickey's hit to right field.

The Cubs came through with some nice fielding in the seventh and eighth innings, completing two fast double plays, both being Herman to Jurgens to Grimm.

FIRST INNING

Cubs: The hand struck up the National Anthem as the Yankees galloped onto the field. The opening picture was a big contrast to yesterday's gloomy getaway. Herman up. Strike one, swinging at a curve. Herman drove a double down the third base line. English up. Ball one, low. Ball two, inside. Strike one, called. Foul strike two, into the screen. English hoisted to Combs, Herman held second. Cuyler up. Ball one, inside. Cuyler bounced to Crosetti and was safe on the young shortstop's fumble. Herman stopped at third. Stephenson up. Ball one, inside. Foul, strike one, into the dirt. Strike two, called. Gomez threw to first. Stephenson popped to Combs and Herman raced home after the catch. Cuyler remained at first. Demaree up. Ball one, inside. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two, into the upper deck. Ball two, wide. Demaree filed out to Ruth. One run, one hit, one error, one left.

Yankees: Combs up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Strike two, swinging. Foul into the screen. Ball two, inside. Foul into the upper deck. Foul into the screen. Ball three, outside. Combs walked on a fourth wide pitch. Sewell up. Ball one, outside. Hartnett went out to confer with Warnke. Ball two, outside. Ball three, high and outside. Strike two, swinging. It was a beautiful low curve. Combs scored and Sewell went to second on Gehrig's line single to right.

Grimm missed a dive for the ball. Lazzari up. Strike one, called. Lazzari fouled to Hartnett, who made the catch near the third base coaching box. Dickey up. Ball one, high. Strike one, called. Strike two, swinging. Warnke was setting a great break on his curves. Ball two, inside. Dickey singled off Grimm's glove and Sewell scored, Gehrig reaching third, beating the relay from Hartnett. Chapman up. Ball one, high. Strike one, swinging. Ball two, inside. Strike two, called. Chapman fanned on a third called strike. Two runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

SECOND INNING

Cubs—Grimm up. Ball one, it was a sweeping curve. Grimm smashed a single to center. Hartnett up. Ball one, low. Strike one, called. Ball two, outside. Ball three, outside. Hartnett walked. The fourth ball was outside. Jurgens up. Jurgens bunted to Gomez and was thrown out at first as both runners advanced on the sacrifice. Warnke up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ball two, outside. Strike two, swinging. Foul, into the dirt. Foul, it was into the dirt. Warnke fanned swinging at a fast ball. Herman up. Ball one, low and inside. Strike one, swinging. Foul, strike two, behind the plate. Herman fanned, taking a third called strike and Gomez was out of a bad hole. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Yankees—Crosetti up. Strike one, swinging. Crosetti popped to Jurgens. Gomez up. Strike one, swinging. Strike two, swinging. Foul, strike three, called. Combs struck out on a called, third strike. Combs up. Strike one, foul into the screen. Ball one, inside. Strike two, swinging at a fast breaking curve. Combs filed out to Cuyler. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Cubs—English up. Ball one, inside. Ball two, low. Strike one, called. Ball three, outside. Strike two, called. English filed to Ruth, who made the catch without moving a step. Cuyler up. Ball one, high. Strike one, swinging. Ball two, outside. Cuyler grounded out. Lazzari to Gehrig, Stephenson up. Ball one, it was a floater wide of the plate. Ball two, fast and high. Stephenson punched a hit to right and made two bases when the ball bounded past Ruth. It was scored as a double. Demaree up. Ball one, inside. Ball two, outside. Ball three, low. Strike one, called. Demaree fouled into the screen, the ball just being out of Dickey's reach. Demaree singled to right and Stephenson scored standing up, when Jurgens juggled the ball before making a poor throw to the plate. Grimm up. Strike one, called. Strike two, swinging. Foul, into the stands off third base. Ball one, inside. Ball two, inside. Demaree was trapped off first base and put out, Gomez to Gehrig. One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Sewell up. Strike one, called. Sewell bounced out. Herman to Grimm. Ruth up. Ball one, outside. Ball two, a slow one, inside. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two into the screen. Foul, into the stands off the plate. Foul, into the stands off the third base line. Ruth walked, the fourth ball being inside. Gehrig up. Ball one, high. Ball two, outside. Strike one, called. Gehrig singled on a sharp hit that Herman barely was able to stop. Ruth halted at second. Lazzari up.

FOURTH INNING

Cubs—Grimm up. Ball one, high. Grimm slashed a single off Sewell's glove. Hartnett up. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Hartnett struck out with his bat still on his shoulder. Jurgens up. Jurgens forced Grimm. Crosetti to Lazzari. Warnke up. Strike one, swinging. Strike two, swinging. Warnke whiffed on a change of pace. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees—Gomez up. Gomez was thrown out, Warnke to Grimm. Combs up. Strike one, called. Ball one, inside. Ball two, low. Foul, two, into the upper deck. Ball three, low and inside. Combs singled through short. Sewell up. On the hit-and-run play, Sewell singled to left and Combs reached third. Ruth up. Ruth bunted to Warnke and Combs was trapped between third and home. He was tagged out and then an unusual double play was completed when Hartnett and Jurgens trapped Sewell. Jurgens made the final putout. Hartnett was credited with the putout of Combs. No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

FIFTH INNING

Cubs—Herman up. Strike one, swinging. Strike two, called. Ball one, outside. Ball two, high. Herman fanned, swinging at a fast ball. English up. Strike one, swinging. Strike two, swinging. English was called out on strikes. Cuyler up. Ball one, high. Foul, into the lower stands behind the Cubs' dugout. Cuyler drove a triple to deep right field. Ruth just failed to get under the ball as it dropped a foot outside the bleacher wall. Stephenson up. Strike one, called. Ball one, inside. Ball two, high. Ball three, outside. College Board Is Accused of Laxness

MACHRAY'S POSITION

Mr. McWilliams said John A. Machray, K.C., former bursar of the university, was acting as bursar in contravention of an amendment to the University Act made in 1917.

He also charged financial reports to the Minister of Education and subsequently the Manitoba Legislature were not complete in detail and violated the amendment. These reports, presented on behalf of the bursar, contained receipts of university investments, but no details of such. Machray, at present serving a penitentiary term for theft of $500,000 from university endowment funds, was acting as bursar and chairman of the board of governors, despite the statute, which declared "no person shall be a member of the board who is at the same time a member of the executive staff of the university." Mr. McWilliams said.

Despite these breaches of the act no question ever had been raised by the

Wheat Has New Low Record As Bottom Falls Out of Pit

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Wheat touched its lowest price level in the history of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day when the October future dropped to 49½ cents a bushel. This figure was one-half cent under the previous low mark of 50 cents reached December 27, 1930.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

By Logan & Bryan
Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Wheat: The market after holding remarkably steady throughout most of the day at ½ cent lower, declined sharply after noon-day hour, and new low prices for the season were made in all months. The October future finally broke the 50-cent mark, sinking down to 49½ cents. When the decline started prices slipped downward very easily, and those resting orders that were reported to be in the market at 50 cents were easily filled.

There was a little stop loss selling, but this was not as large as was expected. The weakness was brought about by some hedging pressure, and a decline in Chicago of fully 1 cent. It was evident all morning that no real support to the market, the great bulk of the operations being spreading. Seasoned took some October at 50½, and it was this demand that held the nearby months in the narrow range of ½ during most of the day. However, only a small scattered export business could be confirmed.

In the cash market there was a fair demand for most all grades from shippers who have tonnage to fill before Saturday, when another advance in lake freight rates takes place. All spreads were unchanged. The weather is fine in western Canada, and the forecast is for clear and a little higher temperatures. Thrashing operations are now making good progress in those areas, where it was stopped by the rains of last week. Country marketings are expected to be a little heavier next week, and yesterday they totaled 3,937,000 bushels vs. 1,222,000 year ago. Broomhall reported a very small demand from continental countries, although Great Britain has been a good buyer, while the Orient has also been in the market for Canadian wheat.

Winnipeg closed 1 to 1½ lower on coarsens. These markets continued extremely quiet with practically nothing going on except spreading operations. No export business could be uncovered, while the domestic demand for everything is very small.

Oats closed ½ to ¾ lower, barley ½ to ¾ lower, rye ½ to ¾ lower.

Liverpool due ½ to ¾ lower on Winnipeg.

MARLER WILL SAIL BY ASIA

Canadian Minister to Japan Returning to Post After Holidaying in Canada

University of British Columbia to Confer Upon Minister Honorary LL.D. Degree

When R.M.S. Empress of Asia sails for the Orient on October 8, she will carry among her passengers,
Hon. Herbert M. Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, who is returning to his post in Tokyo after spending a holiday in eastern Canada.

Mr. Marler is expected to arrive in Vancouver next Tuesday, and he will come to Victoria before taking passage by the Empress of Asia.

While in Vancouver Mr. Marler will be awarded an honorary LL.D. degree by the University of British Columbia, the date of the ceremony being tentatively set for October 6.

GUEST OF JAPAN SOCIETY

It is also expected that Mr. Marler will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Japan Society, which is being arranged during his stay in Vancouver.

The Canadian minister to Japan will be accompanied on his return to Tokyo by Mrs. Marler.

It is possible that Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, first secretary to the Canadian legation at Tokyo, who has been holidaying in eastern Canada with Mrs.
Keenleyside, may also sail by the Asia for Japan.

Eliminate Layover
At Winnipeg

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 29.—Eliminating the present fourteen-hour layover at Winnipeg, the new schedule of the Canadian National Limited between Montreal and Vancouver will become effective with the departure of that train from Mon-real on Friday, September 30. It is announced by the Canadian National Railways.

The new schedule becomes effective Monday, October 1, and eliminates a ten-hour layover at Winnipeg.

California's 'Sierra Way' Will Surpass
'Appian Way' Of Ancient Rome

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 29.—The famed Appian Way, the road constructed by ancient Romans 2,000 years ago, will have its counterpart in the United States in the Sierra Way, a road now under construction in this state which all lake motorists through the Sierras into huge forests of redwoods.

The new highway will run a length of 800 miles through territory almost entirely new, and under towering mountains whose tops are now covered.

The Sierra Way was planned and designed by the Forest Service to connect up National Park sections in the state. About fifty per cent of it is now completed to current major highway standards, and the remainder is expected to be finished before long.

The new highway starts at the base of Mount Shasta, after leaving the S. Highway 99. It continues along the range of Sierras, through timbered land where, should a motorist desire, short trip into the backwoods can be made to see logging and milling operations.

California BACKWOODS

Ever climbing and descending, the Sierra Way continues on to Lake Britton at across Pitt River on a huge concrete dam built to create electric power for metropolitan centres miles away.

From land of virgin timber, the Sierra Way runs into a land of striking contrast—a devastated area caused by

SURVEYING WEST COAST

The hydrographic survey steamer Lillooet, with H. D. Pariseau, chief hydrographer, and his staff aboard, is now on the West Coast of Vancouver Island to complete soundings off Barkley Sound and outside the main approach to Clayoquot Sound.

HEIAN MARU COMING

Harry Clark, local agent for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, has advised that the Heian Maru, which sailed from Yokohama September 25, will reach Victoria here Sunday night.
The Heian Maru has eighty-six passengers in all classes, and carries 367 tons of freight for Canadian consignees.

G. O. Pennington, assistant general passenger agent for the Pennsylvania Lines, Chicago, accompanied by E. C.

Kellogg, district passenger agent, Seattle, was in the city yesterday en route east via the Canadian Pacific. They were entertained by A. P. Chapman Jr., district agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway. Compensation in the eastern States are showing signs of improvement, Mr. Pennington stated.

CHANGES IN SERVICE

Commencing Saturday, the C.P.R.
Steamers Princess Charlotte and Princess Alice will replace the Princess Kathleen and Princess Marguerite in the triangle service. The Charlotte will leave here at 2 p.m. as usual for Vancouver, arriving at the mainland port at 6:45 p.m. instead of 6:30. The Alice, leaving Vancouver at 10:30 a.m., will reach Victoria at 3:30 p.m., sailing at 4:30 p.m. for Seattle.

Value of Tourist

Industry Stressed

Vancouver, Sept. 29.—Members of the transportation and customs bureau of Vancouver Board of Trade toured British Columbia through the medium of motion pictures yesterday at a junction in the Hotel Vancouver.

It was the bureau's opening function of the winter season.

Guide to the pictorial tour was Major J. Gordon Smith, director of the bureau of provincial information at Victoria. Under his direction the gathering visited all of the province's beautiful spots from remote districts of Vancouver Island and East Kootenays to the heart of Vancouver.

Value of the tourist industry to this province was stressed by Major Smith.
He declared it is comparable in extent to any of British Columbia's major industries. "It is worth spending a few thousands to bring people to British Columbia," he contended.

Referring further to the value of advertising the scenic wonders of the province, the speaker quoted statistics gathered in various parts of the United States which proved conclusively that advertising pays substantial dividends.

Also Resigns

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 29.—Owing to pressure of other business, James Richardson of Winnipeg has resigned as general manager of Canadian Airways Limited, he announced here yesterday evening.
He will continue as president of the company.

Complete reorganization of the company's eastern lines is being undertaken, Mr. Richardson stated, in announcing Wilfred C. Sigerson would succeed him as general manager. Mr.
Sigerson has been controller of the company and will combine that office with the general management.

The assistant general manager of the eastern lines, L. J. Dalton, has resigned and has been replaced by F. T. Jenkins, formerly sales manager of the survey-photographic department. Capt. K. F.
Saunders, chief pilot, and M. W. Gallop, assistant to Mr. Dalton, have also resigned.

BRITAIN SPEEDS
RAIL SERVICES

London Midland and Scottish Railway to Effect Improvement in Winter Schedules

London, Sept. 29.—With a view to speeding up train times, the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company got to work in fine style on the winter train services, and no fewer than 1,075 trains have been accelerated by a total of 3,660 minutes daily.

Under the new time tables there are five London, Midland and Scottish expresses scheduled to make daily runs at average speeds of over sixty miles an hour, including one at 64.4 miles an hour, and another at 63.1 miles an hour, while eighty-one other trains will be timed at average speeds ranging from fifty-five to fifty-nine miles an hour.

The latest accelerations cover a wide field ranging from important business trains between London, Manchester, Liverpool and winter health resorts, to local services in the London and principal provincial areas, and many cross-country trains.

Between Euston and Manchester thirteen expresses are being accelerated to save 144 minutes daily; there is a morning and evening business express from Manchester to Euston, each booked to make the journey in three and a quarter hours (fastest time on record), and a similar timing has been introduced for the evening business train, "The Lancastrian," leaving Euston at 6 p.m.

One of these three-and-a-quarter-hour trains from Manchester to Euston, "The Comet," leaving Manchester at 5:40 p.m., is timed to run the 133.4 miles from Stafford to Euston in 127 minutes, at an average speed of 63.1 miles an hour.

On the Midland route between Manchester and London (St. Pancras) six expresses have been speeded up, while eleven trains between Euston and Liverpool are accelerated, saving altogether 144 minutes daily compared with a year ago.

SOCIETY PLANS OCTOBER SHOW

Exhibition of Fall Flowers to Be Held in Shrine Auditorium

The Victoria Horticultural Society has again decided to arrange for a fall show which will take in many flowers not in season at the earlier shows of the year.

Prompted by the success of its chrysanthemum show last October the society is encouraged to make this show, which will care for chrysanthemums, Michaelmas daisies, dahlias and many other late blooming flowers. The list has been substantially increased to that of last year. Nearly 100 classes have been arranged. The show will be held in the Shrine Hall, View Street, Saturday, October 8, opening at 1 p.m. Lists can be obtained from the secretary, F. E. Boulter, 638 Obed Avenue, Telephone E 8490.

PORT ALBERNI

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McMillan have returned from Victoria.

E. J. Cronk returned on Monday from Kelowna where he attended the convention of school trustees.

TWO TRIALS FOR NANAIMO ASSIZE

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, Sept. 29.—The fall assizes will open on Wednesday, October 12, there being two cases now listed for trial. Henry Woo, et al, are charged with robbery with violence of Wong Wah Quock, at Nanaimo Chinatown, in February last. This was traversed from the spring assizes, when the jury disagreed. C. M. Dalgleish of Courtenay is charged with manslaughter arising out of a motor accident at Courtenay.

ALBERNI NOTES

Special to The Times
Alberni, Sept. 29.—St. Andrew's P.E.A. was reorganized, on Sunday, the officers being: President, William Brand; honorary president, Rev. A. McLean; vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Carter; secretary-treasurer, Frederick Toy; conveners and committee: Christian Fellowship, Margaret Richardson, convenor, with Dolly Brand as assistant; missionary, Miss Hattie Forrest, convenor, assisted by Miss Eva Clegg and Miss Lucy Clegg, Messrs. Strang, Stanley Brand, Martin Stephens and Miss Agnes Forrest; organist, Mrs. J. R. Motion. Mayor Motion gave an address on "Fidelity, Trust and Purpose."

Dr. A. D. and Mrs. Morgan left on Monday for an extended holiday in southern California. Dr. C. T. Hilton will assume charge of his practice.

Miss Betty Hilton is the guest of Miss Jennie Turner at Uplands.

Mrs. Dennis O'Brien has returned.

Gassy Stomachs Swiftly Helped

What agonizing discomfort stomach gas and acid cause—that sense of heaviness and pain about the pit of the stomach—bloating, heartburn and suffocating gas dangerously creeping up around the heart—

But thank Modern Science for coming to indigestion and dyspeptic sufferers' aid with a fine formula—Bismarated Magnesia.

A teaspoonful in a glass of water not only IMMEDIATELY ends stomach distress but taken faithfully after each meal for one week puts any sick, gassy stomach in fine robust shape again—it does this by correcting the acid condition and making the stomach function NATURALLY again.

Bismarated Magnesia is especially recommended in cases of stomach trouble when other treatments have failed to help—the effective correctives in Bismarated Magnesia ALWAYS WORK.

You'll find its small cost most satisfactory—the taste most pleasant. Leading druggists everywhere can supply you with this wonder-working prescription.

You want what's best for your upset, gassy stomach—so ask for and GET Bismarated Magnesia. (Advt.)

ST. MATTHIAS TROOP

The regular weekly meeting of the St. Matthias Troop, held in the St. Matthias Hall, Poul Bay, on Monday evening, opened at 7 o'clock with the official ceremony. The patrols then went to their corners for instruction.

An exciting game of duster hockey was played after which Major J. Wise invested a number of boys.

The scouts from the Beaver Patrol to take the oath were: Patrol Leader Tom Dalsell and Robert Acton, Gordon Hope and Charles Mudge were invested from the Lion Patrol, and Olive Thomas of the Cobras also took the promise. Patrol Leader Tom Dalsell was then presented with the second class badge.

The troop has progressed very well since its origination last month, and new members are joining every week. The troop is planning to give a concert some time in November or December, and preliminary preparations are now being made. Miss Florence Robertson, who has had considerable experience in dramatics, has consented to coach the plays and other attractions.

All boys in Poul Bay, eleven years or over, who would like to become scouts, are urged to attend next Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

REBUILDING ON SITE OF FIRE

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, Sept. 28.—Workmen started yesterday to clear the debris from the ruins of the store of Powers, Doyle and Berry, gutted in the big July fire. Mr. Doyle has announced the new building, to be erected immediately, will be a commodious one-storey structure. The contract has been let to Charles Wilson, local contractor. Tenders have been called for by the other property owners, and it is expected that work on the replacing of the other destroyed buildings will commence in the near future.
